

Contents

Acknowledgments vii

Introduction i

Part One: The Age of Apprenticeship

1. The First Poets 29
2. The First Writers of Prose 47
3. More Early Writers of Prose 69
4. George Moses Horton and David Walker 83

Part Two: The Age of the Abolitionists, I

5. Frederick Douglass, Plus the Early Black Press 105
6. Slave Narratives, 1830–1860 128
7. Perpetuations and Close Relatives of the Slave Narrative 157
8. Antebellum Black Leaders 180
9. Early Black Historians 200

Part Three: The Age of the Abolitionists, II

10. Early Abolitionist Poets 221
11. Later Abolitionist Poets 249

12.	Frances Ellen Watkins Harper and Albery Allson Whitman	265
13.	Early Folk Literature, Largely Prose	293
14.	Early Folk Literature in Verse	305
15.	The First Negro Novelist	326
16.	Frank J. Webb and Harriet E. Wilson	343
17.	Black Separatism Enters the Novel	364
18.	A Beginning Ends	378
	Bibliographical Essay	401
	Index	451