

Contents

Preface and acknowledgements	page ix
The coup d'état chronology: from idea to implementation	xv
Introduction	i
1 The British reaction to Mosaddeq in power: “Mossie grabs Britain’s oil – but Navy to the rescue” ( Daily Express )	ii
2 Mosaddeq’s opposition strikes: testing tactics	34
3 Who beckoned and who executed on 28 February (9 Esfand)?	49
4 TPAJAX: company (CIA) commanders and firm (SIS) functionaries operationalizing the coup idea	60
5 The CIA-affiliated organizations: propaganda and combat	79
6 The precision coup flops: back to the drawing-board	95
7 Second coup capabilities of the military networks	110
8 A viable home-spun coup	124
9 The crucial last-minute preparations	138
10 The second coup begins with the pincer movement of the thugs	155
11 Coup agents occupying the city centre	174
12 Attacking ministries and pro-Mosaddeq buildings	193
13 The enigma of the tanks: betrayal or incompetence?	204
14 Mosaddeq overthrown	221
15 Religious representatives and the coup	235

16	Why did the second coup succeed?	249
17	Mosaddeq's exit: legal transfer of power or coup d'état?	270
	Conclusion	289
	Biographical notes of key figures	298
	Bibliography	311
	Index	315