1 Introduction to Kankanaey and to Role and Reference Grammar	1
1.1 The Kankanaey language in its context.....	1
1.1.1 Austronesian and Philippine-type languages	2
1.1.2 Tagalog, a meso-Philippine language.....	7
1.1.3 Iloko, a northern Philippine Cordilleran language.....	10
1.1.4 Other Cordilleran languages	13
1.1.5 Conventions used in this book	14
1.2 Role and Reference Grammar—a practical model	15
1.2.1 Introduction.....	15
1.2.2 Constituent projections	16
1.2.3 Semantic structure	20
1.2.4 Operator projection.....	23
1.2.5 Information structure.....	25
1.3 Conclusion.....	26
2 The Lexicon and Predicate Formation.....	29
2.1 The Kankanaey lexicon	29

2.1.1	Roots.....	29
2.1.2	Word-building processes.....	33
2.2	Predicate formation.....	36
2.2.1	Aktionsart logical structures.....	37
2.2.2	Tests for Aktionsart classes.....	38
2.2.3	Identificational and attribute state predicates.....	41
2.2.4	Other state predicates.....	43
2.2.5	Process predicates.....	48
2.2.6	Achievement and accomplishment predicates.....	49
2.2.7	Activity predicates.....	53
2.2.8	Semelfactive predicates.....	61
2.2.9	Active accomplishment predicates.....	62
2.2.10	Causative predicates.....	65
2.3	Derived predicates.....	68
2.3.1	Potential predicates.....	68
2.3.2	Predicates with temporal immediacy.....	71
2.3.3	Passive states with ma-	72
2.3.4	Derived predicates with i- and i...an	74
2.3.5	Derived activity predicates with maki-	76
2.3.6	Derived causative predicates with pa-	76
2.3.7	Predicates with the possession root oka	81
2.3.8	Class roots with predicating affixes—argument incorporation.....	81
2.4	Predicates built with numbers.....	83
2.4.1	Predicating affixation.....	83
2.4.2	Unique affixation.....	85
2.4.3	Glottal infix with numbers.....	86
2.5	Existential predicates.....	87
2.6	Conclusion.....	88
3	Reference Phrases.....	91
3.1	Reference Phrase structure.....	92
3.1.1	Reference Phrase markers.....	92
3.1.2	Reference Phrase nucleus.....	96
3.1.3	Arguments of the Reference Phrase nucleus.....	103
3.1.4	Peripheries in the Reference Phrase.....	106
3.2	Operators in the Reference Phrase.....	110
3.2.1	Reference Phrase operators.....	112
3.2.2	Core _R operators.....	116
3.2.3	Nuclear _R operator: nominal aspect.....	120
3.3	Complex Reference Phrase constructions.....	122
3.3.1	Phrasal juncture.....	122
3.3.2	Nuclear or core juncture.....	124

3.4	Affixed roots in the Reference Phrase nucleus	126
3.4.1	Roots with nominalizing affixation.....	126
3.4.2	Existentials in the nucleus of a reference expression	128
3.4.3	Roots with predicating affixation.....	129
3.5	Reference Phrase as predicate.....	132
3.6	The anaphor siya	134
4	Simple Clauses.....	139
4.1	Simple clause structure	139
4.1.1	The nucleus.....	140
4.1.2	Core arguments.....	141
4.1.3	Non-verbal predicates in the clause nucleus.....	149
4.1.4	Peripheries in the clause.....	156
4.1.5	A pre-core slot?	165
4.1.6	Clitic pronoun displacement	167
4.2	Modifiers in the clause	169
4.2.1	Nuclear operators.....	171
4.2.2	Core-level operators.....	184
4.2.3	Clause-level operators.....	194
4.2.4	Other modification.....	199
5	Complex Clauses and Sentences	209
5.1	Clausal juncture in the sentence.....	210
5.2	Detached positions	212
5.2.1	Left-detached position.....	213
5.2.2	Right-detached position	222
5.3	Clause peripheries	223
5.3.1	Clauses that modify in the right clause periphery	224
5.3.2	Clarifying restatement clauses	227
5.4	Complex clauses	228
5.4.1	Non-subordinate core junctures.....	229
5.4.2	Core subordination	235
5.4.3	Quotation complement subordination	236
5.4.4	Other clausal complements.....	239
5.5	The sentence complex	244
5.5.1	Reasoning sequences.....	245
5.5.2	Action sequences.....	247
5.6	Relative clauses.....	250
6	Privileged Syntactic Arguments.....	255
6.1	The Privileged Syntactic Argument of the clause.....	255
6.1.1	Assigning macrorole status and the Privileged Syntactic Argument of the clause	256

6.1.2 Privileged Syntactic Argument case coding	257
6.1.3 Ordering in basic clauses	259
6.1.4 Privileged Syntactic Argument indexing on the predicate	261
6.2 Privileged Syntactic Arguments of other constructions.....	294
6.2.1 Control of reflexive antecedence.....	294
6.2.2 Pivot with left-displaced pronominal arguments	295
6.2.3 Controller and pivot interpretation in core junctures	296
6.2.4 Pivot in nominalization.....	299
6.2.5 Pivot interpretation in relativization	305
6.2.6 Summary of Privileged Syntactic Argument coding and behaviors in Kankanaey.....	306
6.3 Non-Privileged Syntactic Argument functions.....	308
6.3.1 Co-reference across clause boundaries.....	308
6.3.2 Flagging non-Privileged Syntactic Argument arguments in a clause.....	310
6.4 Conclusion.....	313
7 Information Structure	315
7.1 Information structure	315
7.1.1 Morphosyntactic variables in marking information.....	316
7.1.2 Clauses with no focus domain.....	317
7.2 New information—the focus domain	319
7.2.1 Clause focus	320
7.2.2 Predicate focus.....	321
7.2.3 Narrow focus.....	326
7.3 Outside the focus domain.....	335
7.3.1 Detached Reference Phrases with basic clauses	336
7.3.2 Detached Reference Phrases with equative clauses	339
7.4 Conclusion.....	341
8 Conclusion	345
Appendix A Phonology and Morphophonology of Kankanaey.....	347
Appendix B Reference Phrase Markers, Pronouns, and Affixes.....	365
Appendix C Sample Kankanaey Texts	371
