

Contents

Part One: The Milieu of the Inns of Court

I	The Inns of Court in the Late Sixteenth Century	3
II	Literary Life at the Inns of Court in the Latter Half of the Sixteenth Century	19
III	Revels at the Inns of Court	32
IV	The Middle Temple's "Prince D'Amour" Revels of 1597-98	45
V	The Political Climate at the Inns of Court (1590-1615)	62
VI	"The Noblest Nourceries of Humanity and Liberty"	70

Part Two: Playwright at the Inns of Court: John Marston

VII	John Marston's Early Writing	83
VIII	Jack Drum's Entertainment : Speech and Style at Highgate	125
IX	The Antonio Plays: "What Men Must Be"	140
X	What You Will or Don Kynsayer's Descent from Parnassus	162
XI	The Malcontent : Virtuous Machiavellianism	178
XII	The Dutch Curtezan : "Rich Sence" and "Bad Language"	195
XIII	Parasitaster or The Fawne : King James and the "Prince d'Amour"	220
XIV	Sophonisba : Wonder and Shame	238
XV	Conclusion: A "Timely Change"	254

Appendices

A	Some Important Figures at the Inns of Court (1590-1610)	261
---	--	-----

B	Chronological Table of Events in Marston's Life and Related Events at the Middle Temple	265
C	The Date of the Antonio Plays and Their Chronological Relationship to Hamlet	268
	Index	273