

Contents

Notes on contributors	vii
Preface	ix
Introduction	1
1 Marvell's Cromwell Poems: an Accidental Triptych Christopher Wortham	16
2 Marvell's 'Upon Appleton House, to my Lord Fairfax' and the Regaining of Paradise A.D. Cousins	53
3 Virgins and Whores: the Politics of Sexual Misconduct in the 1660s Steven N. Zwicker	85
4 'I would not tell you any tales': Marvell's Constituency Letters N.H. Keeble	111

vi Contents

5	The Religion of Andrew Marvell: Locating the 'Bloody Horse' William Lamont	135
6	Andrew Marvell as Polemicist: his Account of the Growth of Popery, and Arbitrary Government Conal Condren	157
7	Miscellaneous Marvell? Annabel Patterson	188
	Index	213