

Contents

Preface	ix
Part 1: Freedom and Cosmology
1. Freedom as an Intellectual Problem	3
The Task	3
The Hypothesis	6
Abstractions	16
Freedom and Theory	21
2. The Cosmological Scheme	30
Metaphysical Categories	30
Cosmological Categories	34
Individuals	40
3. A General Theory of Value	52
The Dialectical Question of Value	55
Participation	63
Aristotelian Criticism and the Paradoxes of Participation	73
Experiential Evidence	79
Part 2: Personal Freedom
Preliminary Remarks	89
4. External Liberties	91
Internal and External	93
Prehension	101
Discursive Individuals	104
Organisms and Persons	110
External Liberties	115
5. Intentional Action	116
Freedom and Free Will	116
Causation	120
Will	125
Intentionality	130
6. Free Choice	136
Determinism and Alternatives for Choice	136
Possibilities and Potentialities	140

Responsibility	147
Determinism and Conditions of Choice	150
Decision	163
Reasons	166
7. Freedom in Creativity	174
The Discernment of Values	174
Normative Invention	184
Creativity and Personal Freedom	192
Part 3: Social Freedom
Preliminary Remarks	207
8. Freedom of Opportunity	211
Social Values	211
Values, Rights, and Freedoms	220
Freedom to Participate in Culture	226
Freedom to Participate in Organized Society	241
Freedom of Historical Action	250
9. Freedom of Social Pluralism	255
The Public and the Private	255
Dewey's Public and McLuhan's Media	263
The Environment-Creativity Thesis	271
The Right to Privacy	282
Social Pluralism	289
10. Freedom of Integral Social Life	293
Social Conditions	293
Social Meaning	301
Social Change, Revolution, and New Sensibilities	313
A Pluralistic Style of Integral Social Life	321
11. Freedom of Political Life	334
The Principle of Participatory Democracy	334
Power, Conflict, and Social Change	343
Wisdom, Authority, and Expertise	346
Institutions and Government	357
The Limits of Freedom	362
Bibliographical Essay	371
Index	379