

Contents

1. Introduction	1
2. Theorising Difference	12
2. 1. Coming to Terms with the Freudian Legacy	13
2. 2. Subjects of Language	16
2. 3. Gender Confusion: Beyond the Necessity of Difference?	28
2. 4. Carter's Utopia of Gender	33
3. Identity as Social Fiction	38
3. 1. Strategies of Patriarchy	39
3. 2. Images of Femininity	57
3. 3. The Social Mediation of Reality	75
3. 4. Social Contract, Patriarchal Exchange	93
4. Identity between Terror and Subversion	107
4. 1. Ambiguity: Sublimity and Abjection	108
4. 2. 'Not truly one, but truly two . . . '	130
4. 3. Deconstruction and the Decentred Self	149
4. 4. Subjective Self or Intersubjectivity?	174
5. Culture Reconsidered	185
5. 1. Transforming Textual Bodies	188
5. 2. Challenging Authority	195
5. 3. Rewriting History	213
5. 4. Towards a Feminist Postmodernism	229
6. Conclusion	233
Bibliography	241
Index	259