

Contents

Introduction	1
1 Empson and Present-Day Criticism: a Chapter of Misunderstandings	3
Poet and critic: a change of heart? 13
The rational motive: Empson and the literature of conflict 35
2 'Beyond Formalism': Pastoral and the 'Subjective Correlative'	43
History and form in Pastoral: the 'timeless prison' of Symbolism 56
3 Complex Words and the Grammar of Motives	72
Dramatic 'character' and the commonsense ethic 86
4 Semantics and Historical Method: the Phenomenology of Meaning	97
Structures and meaning: the limits of explanation 108
Ordinary language and semantic history 111
Complex Words and the 'renaissance' view of man 120
5 'Other Minds': the Morality of Knowledge	126
Milton's God and the 'question of intention' 138
Milton, Pastoral and the levels of consciousness 142
Poetry and narrative: the 'plot' dimension 157
The rational bias: some limiting cases in Empson's criticism 163
6 Literary 'Values' and Modern Humanism: Empson's Work in Perspective	171
Alternative wisdoms: Empson between two cultures 187
Appendix: Complex Words and Recent Semantic Theory	201
Postscript by William Empson	205
Bibliographical Note	207
Notes	209
Index	219