

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Introduction	1
Pascal Engel Université de Grenoble
Can there be a substantive account of truth?	21
Thomas Baldwin Clare College, University of Cambridge
Acts and scenes	41
Martin Davies Birkbeck College, University of London
Semantics and psychology: the semantics of belief- ascriptions	83
Pierre Jacob CNRS and CREA, Ecole Polytechnique, Paris
States of affairs, Bedeutung and the contingent a priori	111
Graeme Forbes Tulane University, New Orleans, USA
The Sorites paradox and its significance for the interpretation of semantic theory	135
Crispin Wright Universities of St Andrews and Michigan

Knowledge representation versus meaning representation	163
Daniel Kayser Université Paris-Nord
Peirce's semiotic version of the semantic tradition in formal logic	187
Claudine Engel-Tiercelin Université de Paris-Panthéon-Sorbonne
Index	215