

Contents

PREFACE xiii

Chapter 1 The Origins of the Cold War Era 1

DOCUMENTS 2

1. Confronting the Implications of the Atomic Bomb, May 1945 3
2. U.S. Diplomat George F. Kennan Warns of an Implacable Enemy, 1946 5
3. Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace Urges a Conciliatory Approach, 1946 7
4. Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Novikov Sees a U.S. Drive for World Supremacy, September 1946 10
5. President Harry S. Truman Declares World Split Into Two Ways of Life, 1947 13
6. Senator Joseph McCarthy Charges the Democrats Are “Soft on Communism,” 1950 16
7. The President’s Advisers Urge Military Expansion (NSC-68), April 1950 18
8. Hollywood Screenwriter Lillian Hellman Defies Anticommunist Investigators, 1952 21

ESSAYS 22

- Melvyn P. Leffler* • Incompatible Visions of the Postwar Era 23
- Ellen Schrecker* • Anticommunism at Home 38

FURTHER READING 47

Chapter 2 The Consumer's Republic: Mass Culture, Consumer Markets, and Identity in the 1950s 50

DOCUMENTS 51

1. U.S. Business Celebrates the "Miracle of America," 1948 52
2. U.S. News and World Report Assesses the Perils of Mass Culture and the Evils of Television, 1955 54
3. 7-Up Appeals to the Teen Market, 1957 57
4. Vance Packard Warns against the "Hidden Persuaders," 1957 58
5. E. Franklin Frazier Critiques the Black Bourgeoisie, 1957 61
6. Advertisers Discover the African-American Urban Market, 1964 63

ESSAYS 64

- Roland Marchand* • Visions of Classlessness 64
Lizabeth Cohen • Lessons in Class 74

FURTHER READING 84

Chapter 3 To the Brink: Berlin, Cuba, and the Threat of Nuclear War 86

DOCUMENTS 87

1. White House Committee Urges Military Build-up, 1957 88
2. President Dwight D. Eisenhower Warns of a "Military-Industrial Complex," 1961 91
3. President John F. Kennedy Declares Sweeping Global Ambitions, 1961 92
4. Secretary of State Dean Rusk Examines U.S. Failures at the Bay of Pigs, 1961 94
5. President John F. Kennedy Declares American Determination to Defend Berlin, 1961 96
6. U.S. Leaders Debate Options during the Missile Crisis, 1962 98
7. U.S. and Soviet Leaders Find a Formula to End the Cuban Missile Crisis, 1962 104

ESSAYS 107

- George C. Herring* • Ideology and Ambition 107
Julian E. Zelizer • Domestic Pressures for Toughness 115

FURTHER READING 125

Chapter 4 Equality, Freedom, and Power: The Civil Rights Revolution 127

DOCUMENTS 128

1. The New York Times Reports a Murder in Georgia, 1946 129

2. The Supreme Court Rules on Brown v. Board of Education, 1954 130
3. Jo Ann Robinson Remembers the Montgomery Bus Boycott, 1955 131
4. Anne Moody Describes a Sit-in in Jackson, Mississippi, May 28, 1963 133
5. Malcolm X Explores the Philosophy of Black Nationalism, 1964 136
6. The Black Panther Party Explains Its Goals and Beliefs, 1966 138

ESSAYS 141

- Charles M. Payne* • The View from the Trenches 141
Thomas J. Sugrue • The Continuing Racial Crisis 152

FURTHER READING 159Chapter 5 The Great Society and the Politics of Liberal Reform 163*DOCUMENTS 164

1. Author Michael Harrington Calls Attention to Poverty, 1962 165
2. Activist Rachel Carson Warns of Environmental Dangers, 1962 168
3. President Lyndon B. Johnson Announces His Program for a “Great Society,” 1964 171
4. Landmark Legislation Targets Poverty, 1964 173
5. Governor Ronald Reagan Warns of the Dangers of the Welfare State, 1964 178
6. A Great Society Official Remembers Promise and Problems, 1966–1967 (1970) 180
7. The Vietnam War Conflicts with the Great Society, 1967 183
8. Conservative Strategist Kevin Phillips Hails an “Emerging Republican Majority,” 1969 184

ESSAYS 187

- James T. Patterson* • The Heyday of Liberal Reform 188
Maurice Isserman and Michael Kazin • The Limits of the Great Society 197

FURTHER READING 204Chapter 6 The New Radicalism of the 1960s 207*DOCUMENTS 208

1. C. Wright Mills Calls for a New Left, 1960 209

2. Students for a Democratic Society Calls for a Profound Reappraisal of American Society, 1962 211
3. Timothy Leary Celebrates Drug Use, 1967 214
4. Columbia University Students Explain Their Protest, 1968 217
5. FBI Wages a Secret Campaign against the New Left, 1968–1971 (1976) 219
6. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew Lashes Out at Radicals, 1969 223
7. A Pollster Reports on “The Big Chill,” 1974 225

ESSAYS 226

Jeremi Suri • The Sources of Radicalism 226

Hugh Heclo • The Sixties and the Origins of “Postmodern” America 235

FURTHER READING 244

Chapter 7 From the Feminine Mystique to Women’s Liberation: Feminist Politics in the 1960s and 1970s 247

DOCUMENTS 248

1. Betty Friedan Uncovers “The Problem That Has No Name,” 1963 249
2. NOW Issues Its Statement of Purpose, 1966 252
3. Margaret Cerullo Remembers an Illegal Abortion, 1968 255
4. Pauli Murray Argues that “Sex” Be Included in Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, 1964 257
5. Feminists Speak Out against the Miss America Pageant, 1968 258
6. Radicalesbians Explore the Meaning of “The Woman-Identified Woman,” 1970 260
7. Black Feminists Speak Out, 1977 262

ESSAYS 266

Nancy MacLean • Title VII and the Fight against Workplace Sex Discrimination 266

Alice Echols • Women’s Liberation and Sixties Radicalism 273

FURTHER READING 286

Chapter 8 Vietnam and the Crisis of American Power 289

DOCUMENTS 290

1. The Vietnamese Declare Their Independence, 1945 291

2. President Dwight D. Eisenhower Explains the Domino Theory, 1954 293
3. The Geneva Agreement Divides Vietnam into North and South, 1954 294
4. A South Vietnamese Peasant Explains Why He Joined the Vietcong, 1961 (1986) 296
5. President Lyndon Johnson's Advisers Debate Expanding the War, 1965 297
6. A Dissenter Dissects Liberalism, 1965 299
7. A Soldier Remembers His Ordeal, 1967–1968 301
8. Henry Kissinger Shares His Doubts with President Nixon, 1969 303

ESSAYS 306

Michael Lind • A Necessary War 306

Fredrik Logevall • An Avoidable Catastrophe 314

FURTHER READING 322

Chapter 9 A New Age of Limits: America and the World in the 1970s 325

DOCUMENTS 326

1. Biologist Paul Ehrlich Describes the Coming Population Explosion, 1968 327
2. Activist Carl Wittman Issues a "Gay Manifesto," 1970 329
3. Journalist Tom Wolfe Explores the "Me Decade," 1976 331
4. Phyllis Schlafly Explains What's Wrong with Equal Rights for Women, 1972 333
5. President Nixon Addresses the Nation on Energy Shortages, 1973 336
6. Time Magazine Editors Urge President Nixon to Resign, 1973 339
7. Two Local Residents Respond to the Nuclear Accident at Three Mile Island, 1979 343
8. Evangelical Reverend Jerry Falwell Calls on Americans to Return to Biblical Morality, 1980 345

ESSAYS 347

Jefferson Cowie • Something's Happening to People Like Me 347

Meg Jacobs • The Conservative Struggle and the Energy Crisis 357

FURTHER READING 366

Chapter 10 Politics and Popular Cultures of the 1980s 368

DOCUMENTS 369

1. Americans Respond to the Iranian Hostage Crisis, 1980 370
2. Presidential Candidate Ronald Reagan Calls for New Economic Policies, 1980 373
3. Jonathan Schell Describes a Nuclear Bomb Attack on New York City, 1982 374
4. President Reagan Proclaims America's "Spiritual Reawakening," 1983 377
5. Apple Introduces the First Macintosh Computer, 1984 378
6. Libertarian Political Scientist Charles Murray Describes the Failures of the Welfare State, 1984 379
7. A Gay Rights Activist Responds to the AIDS Crisis, 1988 382
8. Environmentalist Bill McKibben Describes the End of Nature, 1989 384

ESSAYS 386

- Melani McAlister* • Iran, Islam, and the Terrorist Threat 386
- Bradford Martin* • The Shock Troops of Direct Action: ACT UP Confronts the AIDS Crisis 395

FURTHER READING 406

Chapter 11 Late Capitalism and the Rise of Globalization: Work, Labor, and Inequality in the New Century 409

DOCUMENTS 410

1. New Democrats Hail the New Economy, 1998 411
2. Social Critic Barbara Ehrenreich Describes Working at Walmart, 2001 413
3. Americans for Democratic Action Reports Growing Poverty and Inequality, 2004 416
4. An Immigrant Garment Worker Describes the Contemporary Sweatshop, 2001 418
5. Nobel Winning Economist Paul Krugman Explores the Origins of the 2008 Financial Crisis, 2009 421
6. The New York City General Assembly of the Occupy Movement Issues a Declaration, 2011 423
7. The New York Times Exposes Working Conditions of Chinese Factories where Apple Products Are Assembled, 2012 425

ESSAYS 427

Barry Lynn • Unmade in America: The True Cost of a Global Assembly Line 428

Bethany Moreton • Service Work and the Service Ethos 436

FURTHER READING 445Chapter 12 The 1990s and the Search for Post-Cold War Priorities 447*DOCUMENTS 448

1. Political Theorist Francis Fukuyama Declares the “End of History,” 1989 449

2. President George H. W. Bush Calls for a New World Order, 1990 452

3. Political Scientist Samuel Huntington Predicts Turmoil and War, 1993 453

4. Senator Al Gore Calls for New Focus on the Environment, 1992 456

5. Republicans Propose a “Contract with America,” 1994 457

6. President Bill Clinton Warns against New Isolationism, 1995 459

7. President Clinton Ends “Welfare as We Know It,” 1996 462

8. American Voters Split by Income, Education, Race, 2000 464

ESSAYS 465

Haynes Johnson • A Paradoxical Age 465

Hal Brands • Searching for a New Global Role 474

FURTHER READING 487Chapter 13 A Post-Racial America or a New Jim Crow? Contemporary Debates about Race, Ethnicity, and Immigration 490*DOCUMENTS 491

1. Immigrants Come to America, 1900–2010 493

2. Proposition 187: Californians Seek to Close the Door to Undocumented Immigrants, 1994 494

3. A Pakistani Immigrant Becomes a Suspect after 9/11, 2005 495

4. A Survivor Recalls Hurricane Katrina, 2005 497

5. Congressman Gary Miller Calls for Stricter Immigration Legislation, 2006 500

- 6. Senator Barack Obama Calls for a More Perfect Union, 2008 502
- 7. A Cartoonist Satirizes Anti-Obama Stereotypes, 2008 508
- 8. Eighteen-Year-Old Ola Kaso Provides Testimony on the Dream Act, June 28, 2011 509

ESSAYS 510

- George J. Sanchez* • Race, Immigration, and Nativism 511
- Heather Ann Thompson* • Why Mass Incarceration Matters: Rethinking Crisis, Decline, and Transformation in Postwar American History 518

FURTHER READING 526Chapter 14 The United States in the World since 9/11 529*DOCUMENTS 530

- 1. Osama bin Laden Declares Jihad against America, 1998 531
- 2. President George W. Bush Examines Sources of Anti-Americanism, 2001 533
- 3. The Bush Administration Declares a New National Security Strategy, 2002 535
- 4. Senator Robert C. Byrd Charges “The Emperor Has No Clothes,” 2003 538
- 5. An Army Officer Ponders the Fight for Hearts and Minds in Iraq, 2004 539
- 6. U.S. Department of Justice Authorizes CIA to Use Harsh Interrogation Methods, 2005 543
- 7. Americans Face Competing Priorities at Home and Abroad, 2010 548
- 8. Defense Department Foresees New National Security Threats, 2010 548

ESSAYS 551

- Niall Ferguson* • The Benefits of a Liberal Empire 551
- Thomas L. Friedman and Michael Mandelbaum* • Domestic Dysfunctions and American Decline 562

FURTHER READING 573