

Table of contents

Foreword	(i)
Editor's Acknowledgement	(i)
List of Illustrations	(ii)
List of Abbreviations	(v)
List of Maps and Tables	(v)
INTRODUCTION	1
CHAPTER 1: NAMALAND CA 1800	3
Archaeology	3
The name	3
The Damara in Namaland and Hereroland	4
Nama myth of origin	5
Settlement patterns	7
Size of settlements and cattle posts	7
Economy and society	8
- Cattle raising	8
- Hunting	10
- Agriculture	11
- Crafts	11
- Political organisation	13
- 'Customs', magic and medicine	16
CHAPTER 2: THE OORLAM MIGRATIONS/INVASION, CA 1810-1840
A new social epoch	19
The Afrikaners	20
The Bethany people	22
Stages of Oorlam migration and conquest	23
- Phase 1: From tolerant trade to military skirmishes ...	24
- Phase 2: The Oorlam commandos as conquerors	25
- Phase 3: Jonker's sovereignty established	28
The emergence of new polities and 'commando groups'.....	31
- Jonker Afrikaner and his people	33
- Amraal Lambert or the Khauas people	34
- The Berseba people	35
- The Witboois	36
- The Swartboois	36
- The Veldskoendraers	37
- The Tseib people	38
- The Kai//khaun or "Red Nation"	38
- The Bondelswarts	39
On intermarriages	40

CHAPTER 3: THE SOCIAL ORGANISATION OF COMMANDO GROUPS IN JONKER'S TIME

Numerical strength of a commando	41
The economics of cattle raiding	41
Hunting and the commando	45
New bases of political power and social hierarchy	46
New directions of Namaland economy	52
- The declining importance of cattle breeding skills	52
- The transition from hunting for local consumption to hunting for the Cape trade network	56
- Clothing	59
- Manufacture of household utensils	60
- Iron work and road building	61
- Agriculture	62
- Distilling and the production of spirits	63
Pre-Oorlam support systems in Jonker's time	65
- The cattle post system	65
- Women and their work	68
- The oppression of women	71
'Customs', magic and medicine	74

CHAPTER 4: EUROPEAN MISSIONARIES IN JONKER'S TIME

The importance of missionaries	76
Missionaries and their functions in mid-19th century commando groups	77
- Churches, bells and permanent settlements	77
- The missionary as specialised Cape trade informant	79
- Christianity as a tool for political control	79
- The missionary as doctor, social worker and religious guide	80
The rejection of missionaries as colonial agents	82
A case study: The missionary as a political leader	83

CHAPTER 5: TRADE AND TRADING WITH THE CAPE IN JONKER'S TIME

Contents of trade	87
Scale of trade	89
Capitalisation of trade	92
The profits of traders	93
The Cape copper ventures	95
The terms of trade: Namaland rulers vs. Cape traders	101
- The credit system	104

CHAPTER 6: JONKER'S RULE AND NAMALAND POLITICS, CA 1840-1860
The subjection of and alliance to Herero chiefs	107
- The downfall of Kahitjene	111
Jonker's rule challenged, ca 1840-1852	112
Jonker's rule challenged, ca 1852-1856: //Oaseb's 'Nama' as against 'Oorlam' mobilisation	114
The emergence of new frontlines	116
Treaties and diplomacy in the 1850s	118
 CHAPTER 7: THE DOWNFALL OF THE OORLAM AFRIKANER SOVEREIGNTY, 1863-1870
A challenge to conventional historiography	119
- The position of the ruling Oorlam Afrikaner alliance ..	120
- The position of Namaland chiefs	121
- The European interests: traders, hunters and missionaries	122
- Herero chiefs and commoners	122
Social stress and disease in Namaland	123
The outbreak of lungsickness and Andersson's establishment at Otjimbingwe	125
Mounting tension between traders and Namaland chiefs ...	126
Andersson's first moves to raise military units	126
The outbreak of open conflicts and the fight at Otjimbingwe, 15 June 1863	128
The establishment of an alliance with Kamaharero, 1864 ..	130
The engagement between Andersson's forces and the Afrikaners, 22 June 1864	132
The destruction of Rehoboth	133
Andersson's war	134
The challenge to the Afrikaner alliance in the south: the so-called "Oorlam war", 1865-1867	135
The 1870 Peace Conferences	140
 CONCLUSION	142
Summary and outlook	147
 BIBLIOGRAPHY	150
INDEX	159