

Table of Contents

General Editor's Preface v

SECTION ONE: INTRODUCTION

Anthropology and Politics: From Naiveté Toward Liberation?
by Gerrit Huizer 3

SECTION TWO: COLONIALISM IN ANTHROPOLOGY

The Counterrevolutionary Tradition in African Studies: The Case of Applied Anthropology 45
by Omafume F. Onoge

Anthropologists and Their Terminologies: A Critical Review 67
by Ikenna Nzimiro

Anthropology and the Colonial Encounter 85
by Talal Asad

SECTION THREE: SEXISM IN ANTHROPOLOGY

Viricentrism and Anthropology 97
by Joke Schrijvers

Aboriginal Woman: Male and Female Anthropological Perspectives by Ruby Rohrlich-Leavitt, Barbara Sykes, and Elizabeth Weatherford	117
Women, Development, and Anthropological Facts and Fictions by Eleanor Leacock	131
SECTION FOUR: "ETHICAL QUESTION" OR "POLITICAL CHOICE"?
Colonial and Postcolonial Anthropology of Africa: Scholarship or Sentiment? by Maxwell Owusu	145
Social Reality and the Anthropologists by Ramkrishna Mukherjee	161
The Relevance of Contemporary Economic Anthropology by Abdel Ghaffar M. Ahmed	171
Notes on the Present-Day State of Anthropology in the Third World by Georges Condominas	187
Anthropology = Ideology, Applied Anthropology = Politics by André Gunder Frank	201
SECTION FIVE: FROM "ACADEMIC COLONIALISM" TO "COMMITTED ANTHROPOLOGY"
The Social Responsibility of Anthropological Science in the Context of Contemporary Brazil by Shelton H. Davis	215
The Meaning of Wounded Knee, 1973: Indian Self-Government and the Role of Anthropology by Steve Talbot	227
From Applied to Committed Anthropology: Disengaging from Our Colonialist Heritage by Steven Polgar	259

SECTION SIX: DILEMMAS OF ACTION RESEARCH AND COMMITMENT

- Anthropology, "Snooping," and Commitment: A View from Papua New Guinea 269
by Andrew Strathern
- Anthropology in Melanesia: Retrospect and Prospect 275
by Roger M. Keesing
- Is Useful Action Research Possible? 281
by Nico Kielstra
- How Can Revolutionary Anthropology Be Practiced? 291
by Robert Buijtenhuijs
- The Role of the Anthropologist in Minority Education: The Chicano Case 297
by D. R. Porath

SECTION SEVEN: TOWARD A VIEW FROM BELOW AND FROM WITHIN

- Participant Observation or Partisan Participation? 309
by Mina Davis Caulfield
- On Objectivity in Fieldwork 319
by Carol Lopate
- Breaking Through the Looking Glass: The View from Below 325
by Brooke Grundfest Schoepf
- On Being a Native Anthropologist 343
by Khalil Nakhleh
- Ethnology in a Revolutionary Setting 353
by June Nash

SECTION EIGHT: ATTEMPTS AT LIBERATION ANTHROPOLOGY

- On the Participant Study of Women's Movements:
Methodological, Definitional, and Action Considerations 373
by Gail Omvedt

Research-Through-Action: Some Practical Experiences with Peasant Organization by Gerrit Huizer	395
Anthropology of the Multinational Corporation by June Nash	421
Nationalism, Race-Class Consciousness, and Action Research on Bougainville Island, Papua New Guinea by Alexander F. Mamak	447
Research from Within and from Below: Reversing the Machinery by Al Gedicks	461
 APPENDIX
Foundations on the Move	481
Biographical Notes	495
Index of Names	503
Index of Subjects	511