

Contents

Introduction	vii
1. Two conflicting schools of thought	1
2. An attempt at reconciliation	24
3. Two proposed foundations for ethics	46
4. Can ethics stand alone?	74
5. The Emotive Theory	105
6. A rationalist kind of non-descriptivism	125
7. Has ethics a restricted content?	153
8. Two schools of thought still conflicting	170
Index	197

ERRATUM

Page 78, lines 20 to 22 should read as follows:

to us, which fulfils this condition of necessary coextension with  $T$ , how can we ever be sure that there are not others, unknown to us, which also do so?; (ii) if more than one  $A$ , which fulfils the