

The Protestant Ethic
Turns 100
Essays on the Centenary of the Weber Thesis

edited by William H. Swatos, Jr.
and Lutz Kaelber

 Routledge
Taylor & Francis Group
LONDON AND NEW YORK

Contents

Foreword—1905: Weber in the Year of Miracles Charles Lemert	ix
Prefatory Note	xiii
Introduction—The Centenary of Weber’s Protestant Ethic Essay Lutz Kaelber	xv
Chapter 1—Friends and Foes: The Formation and Consolidation of the Protestant Ethic Thesis Hartmut Lehmann	1
Chapter 2—Dimensions of the Protestant Ethic Martin Riesebrodt	23
Chapter 3— The Protestant Ethic and the “Spirit” of Capitalism as Grand Narrative: Max Weber’s Philosophy of History Donald A. Nielsen	53
Chapter 4—Remnants of Romanticism: Max Weber in Oklahoma and Indian Territory Lawrence A. Scaff	77
Chapter 5—The Contexts of the Publication and Reception of the Protestant Ethic William H. Swatos, Jr., and Peter Kivisto	111
Chapter 6—Rational Capitalism, Traditionalism, and Adventure Capitalism: New Research on the Weber Thesis Lutz Kaelber	139

Chapter 7—The Little Divergence: The Protestant Reformation and Economic Hegemony in Early Modern Europe	165
Philip S. Gorski
Chapter 8—Utilizing Max Weber’s “Iron Cage” to Define the Past, Present, and Future of the American Political Culture	191
Stephen Kalberg
Bibliography	209
Index	227
About the Editors	233