

With Rake in Hand

Memoirs of a Yiddish Poet

Joseph Rolnik

Translated by

Gerald Marcus

SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Acknowledgments	xi	19. Minsk	111
Introduction	xiii	20. How We Starved Ourselves	120
1. With Rake in Hand	1	21. My America I	123
2. Our Village	2	22. My America II	132
3. Our House	5	23. The Newspaper Stand	142
4. Song and Sound	14	24. I Pay for a Cup of Coffee	144
5. My Father and Mother	20	25. I Return Home	146
6. Simple Pleasures	32	26. Three Libraries	151
7. Our Neighbors	46	27. In Our Town	155
8. Our Millers	52	28. The Synagogue Courtyard	160
9. Tragedies	61	29. My Family	163
10. Our Flour Merchants	64	30. My Sins	176
11. Early Childhood	66	31. In America the Second Time	185
12. My Teachers	68	32. My Encounters with I. Raboy	203
13. The Yeshiva	79	33. My Relationship with Sh. Yanovsky of the F.A.Sh.	208
14. A Minyan Destroyed	86	34. My Paper Route	212
15. Episodes	89
16. My First Love	101
17. My Second Love	103
18. My Third Love	106

35. Levine and Goodman's Restaurant	218
36. How I Became a Writer	221
37. How I Became a Proofreader at the Tog	232
38. My Community	235
39. Sixty Years	248
40. As It Once Was	249
41. Zhukhovitz-Broadway	250
Appendix: Writers
Cited by Rolnik	253
Glossary	259
Selected Bibliography	265
Index	267