

IMAGINING JEWISH
AUTHENTICITY
VISION AND TEXT IN AMERICAN JEWISH THOUGHT

Ken Koltun-Fromm

Indiana University Press

Bloomington & Indianapolis

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction: Visual Authenticity in the American Jewish Imaginary	1
SECTION I. The Anxiety of Authenticity in Image and Text
1 Seeing Israel in Bernard Rosenblatt's Social Zionism	19
2 Seeing Things in Abraham Joshua Heschel's The Sabbath	49
3 Seeing Food in The Jewish Home Beautiful and Kosher by Design	76
SECTION II. The Embodied Language of Visual Authenticity
4 The Language of Jewish Bodies in Michael Wyschogrod's The Body of Faith	119
5 The Language of Gendered Bodies in Rachel Adler's Engendering Judaism	145
6 The Language of Racial Bodies in Melanie Kaye/Kantrowitz's The Colors of Jews	171
Conclusion: Imagining Jewish Authenticity in Every Generation	195
Notes	209
Bibliography	233
Index	245