
CONTENTS

Preface

xv

PART ONE FOUNDATIONS

Chapter 1	Introduction	3
	The Field of Organizational Behavior	3
	Format of the Text	5
	Underlying Philosophy	6
	Content and Outline	7
Chapter 2	Organization Theory	9
	Organizations and Rationality	9
	Background	14
	Classical Theory	17
	The Human-Relations Approach	21
	Systems Theory	26
	Contingency Approaches	29
	Summary	36
	Implications for Practice	37
	Discussion Questions	37
	Case: Starting a New Division	38
	Additional Readings	39
Chapter 3	Understanding Human Behavior	41
	The Uniqueness of Human Beings	43
	The Continuity of Growth	46
	Internal versus External Determinants of Behavior	48
	Human Limitations	52
	Understanding Behavior: Learning	53
	Learning in the Social Setting	57
	Summary	59
	Implications for Practice	60
	Discussion Questions	61

	Case: Learning about Booze	61
	Additional Readings	62
Chapter 4	Research Foundations	64
	Conceptual Research Issues	65
	The Scientific Method	67
	Types of Research	70
	Research Design	75
	Participation in Research	82
	Summary	89
	Implications for Practice	90
	Discussion Questions	91
	Case: Did the Training Work?	91
	Additional Readings	92
<hr/>
PART TWO
INDIVIDUAL CHARACTERISTICS
<hr/>
Chapter 5	Perception and Personality	95
	Perception	96
	Person Perception	99
	Personality	112
	Personality and Behavior	115
	Summary	120
	Implications for Practice	121
	Discussion Questions	123
	Case: The Selection Interview	124
	Additional Readings	125
Chapter 6	Attitudes	126
	Definition	126
	Background	127
	Attitude Organization and Dynamics	134
	Attitude Changes	140
	Attitudes and the World of Work	145
	Research on New Job Attitudes	151
	Summary	152
	Implications for Practice	153
	Discussion Questions	155
	Case: Morale and Malaise	155
	Additional Readings	156
Chapter 7	Motivation	158
	Motivation and Performance	159
	Theories of Motivation: Arousal	162

Theories of Motivation: Choice of Behavior	173
Overview	182
Summary	184
Implications for Practice	185
Discussion Questions	187
Case: Pushing Papers Can Be Fun	188
Additional Readings	189
<hr/>
PART THREE
SOCIAL PROCESSES
<hr/>
Chapter 8 Group Dynamics	193
What Is the Small Group?	193
Individuals and Groups	195
An Overview of Group Variables	198
Group Inputs: Personal Characteristics	201
Group Inputs: Situational Variables	202
Group Inputs: Group Structure	211
Summary	221
Implications for Practice	222
Discussion Questions	224
Case: The Holdout	224
Additional Readings	225
Chapter 9 Communication	227
A Communication Model	228
Blocks to Effective Communication	240
The External Environment	243
Some Remedies for Poor Communication	248
Summary	249
Implications for Practice	250
Discussion Questions	251
Case: On Being Informed and Being Well Informed	251
Additional Readings	253
Chapter 10 Roles, Norms, and Status	254
Role Relationships	256
Norms	265
Status	271
Job Stress	277
Summary	279
Implications for Practice	280
Discussion Questions	282
Case: Cross Cultural Encounter	282
Additional Readings	283

PART FOUR

ACCOMPLISHING ORGANIZATIONAL OBJECTIVES

Chapter 11	Individual Decision Making	287
	Why Study Decision Making	288
	The Decision Making Process	288
	Individual Decision Making	292
	Contingency Models of Individual Decisions	305
	Summary	308
	Implications for Practice	308
	Discussion Questions	310
	Case: The Vehicle of Choice	311
	Additional Readings	311
Chapter 12	Group Decision Making	313
	The Research Literature	315
	Contingency Models of Participation	319
	Group Decision Processes	322
	Summary	331
	Implications for Practice	331
	Discussion Questions	333
	Case: Guidelines and Standards—Who Decides?	333
	Additional Readings	334
Chapter 13	Power and Control	336
	Social Power	337
	Power in Use	341
	Control Systems	349
	Summary	360
	Implications for Practice	361
	Discussion Questions	363
	Case: Obedient Betty	363
	Additional Readings	363
Chapter 14	Leadership	365
	Definitions of Leadership	365
	Leadership Emergence	366
	Trait Approach	369
	Behavior Approach	371
	Functional Approach	373
	Contingency Approaches	374
	New Approaches	380
	Summary	383
	Implications for Practice	384
	Discussion Questions	385

Case: A Scientist's Scientist	385
Additional Readings	386

PART FIVE
INDIVIDUAL AND ORGANIZATIONAL EFFECTIVENESS

Chapter 15	Employee Performance	391
	Determinants of Performance	392
	Selection	395
	Performance Appraisal	408
	Systems of Rewards	415
	Summary	421
	Implications for Practice	421
	Discussion Questions	423
	Case: Affirmative Action in Action	423
	Additional Readings	425
Chapter 16	Management of Poor Performance	426
	Practical Perspectives	428
	Research Perspective	432
	Strategies for Dealing with Poor Performance	440
	Summary	443
	Implications for Practice	444
	Discussion Questions	445
	Case: Malpractice or Minor Mistake?	445
	Additional Readings	446
Chapter 17	Training and Development	448
	Training Defined	450
	Training Programs	456
	Evaluation	469
	Summary	474
	Implications for Practice	475
	Discussion Questions	476
	Case: The Popular Panacea	476
	Additional Readings	477
Chapter 18	Organizational Change	479
	Perspectives on Change	481
	The Change Process	483
	Organization Development	489
	Organizational Change Techniques	493
	Problems in Changing Organizations	505
	Summary	508
	Implications for Practice	509

Discussion Questions	511
Case: Implementing Change	511
Additional Readings	513

PART SIX
CURRENT TOPICS

Chapter 19	Political Support	517
	Rationality	517
	The Distribution of Power	522
	Some Determinants of Due Process:
	Differentiation and Integration	531
	Governance Models	535
	Summary	540
	Implications for Practice	541
	Discussion Questions	543
	Case: The End of the Line	543
	Additional Readings	544
Chapter 20	Organizational Outlook	546
	Areas of Change	547
	Current Problems	559
	Some Possible Solutions	563
	General Reassessment	567
	Summary	568
	Implications for Practice	569
	Discussion Questions	571
	Case: Technology Takes Over	571
	Additional Readings	573
	Indexes	575
	Name Index
	Subject Index	