

A SACRED UNITY

Further Steps to an Ecology of Mind

Gregory/Bateson

Edited by Rodney E. Donaldson

A Cornelia & Michael Bessie Book
An Imprint of HarperCollins Publishers

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	ix
Editor's Note on the Selection and Arrangement of Material	xxi

Part I: Form and Pattern in Anthropology

1. Cultural Determinants of Personality	3
2. Human Dignity and the Varieties of Civilization	29
3. Sex and Culture	35
4. Naven : Epilogue 1958	49
5. Distortions Under Culture Contact	69
6. Some Components of Socialization for Trance	73
7. From Anthropology to Epistemology	89

Part II: Form and Pathology in Relationship

8. The New Conceptual Frames for Behavioral Research	93
9. Cultural Problems Posed by a Study of Schizophrenic Process	111
10. A Social Scientist Views the Emotions	127
11. The Message of Reinforcement	133
12. The Double-Bind Theory—Misunderstood?	147
13. The Growth of Paradigms for Psychiatry	151

Part III: Epistemology and Ecology

14. Mind/Environment	161
15. The Thing of It Is	175

16. A Formal Approach to Explicit, Implicit, and Embodied Ideas, and to Their Forms of Interaction	185
17. The Birth of a Matrix, or Double Bind and Epistemology	191
18. This Normative Natural History Called Epistemology	215
19. Our Own Metaphor: Nine Years After	225
20. The Science of Knowing	231
21. Men Are Grass: Metaphor and the World of Mental Process	235

Part IV: Health, Ethics, Aesthetics, and the Sacred

22. Language and Psychotherapy—Frieda Fromm- Reichmann's Last Project	245
23. The Moral and Aesthetic Structure of Human Adaptation	253
24. A Systems Approach	259
25. The Creature and Its Creations	263
26. Ecology of Mind: The Sacred	265
27. Intelligence, Experience, and Evolution	271
28. Orders of Change	283
29. The Case Against the Case for Mind/Body Dualism	291
30. Symptoms, Syndromes, and Systems	295
31. Seek the Sacred: Dartington Seminar	299
32. "Last Lecture"	307

Bibliography of the Published Work of Gregory Bateson	314
Index	337