

CHANDLER RATHFON POST

MEDIAEVAL SPANISH
ALLEGORY

1971

GEORG OLMS VERLAG
HILDESHEIM · NEW YORK

CONTENTS

PART I

THE NATURE OF MEDIAEVAL SPANISH ALLEGORY

I. INTRODUCTION	3
Allegory, symbolism, and the vision.
II. THE CONTINUITY OF SPANISH ALLEGORY	13
III. THE FRENCH INFLUENCE	19
IV. THE ITALIAN INFLUENCE	28
V. TYPES AND METHODS OF SPANISH ALLEGORY	34
VI. THE PANEGYRIC	52
VII. THE EROTIC HELL	75

PART II

THE EVOLUTION OF MEDIAEVAL SPANISH ALLEGORY

VIII. PRECEDENTS IN THE LATIN LITERATURE OF SPAIN	105
Prudentius; Paulus Emeritanus; St. Valerius; Theodulfus; Petrus Compostelanus.
IX. THE THIRTEENTH CENTURY.	118
Gonzalo de Berceo; other allegories of the thirteenth century, the "Disputa del Alma y el Cuerpo" and the "Romance de Lope de Moros"; French influences.
X. THE FOURTEENTH CENTURY	138
Visión de Filiberto; Juan Ruiz.
XI. THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY. FRANCISCO IMPERIAL	147
The first period; the second period; the third period; conclusions.

XII. THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY. THE CONTEMPORARIES OF IMPERIAL.	183
Ruy Páez de Ribera; Villasandino; Ferrant Manuel de Lando; Fray Diego de Valencia; Gonzalo Martínez de Medina; Alonso Enríquez; the "Dance of Death" and the "Revelation of a Hermit."
XIII. THE GREAT MASTERS OF THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY. THE MARQUIS OF SANTILLANA	202
The "Proemio"; the Erotic Trilogy, the "Sueño," the "Triunphete de Amor," and the "Infierno de los Enamorados"; the "Querella de Amor"; the "Visión"; the Panegyrics, the "Coronación de Mossén Jordi" and the "Defunción de Don Enrique de Villena"; the "Comedieta de Ponza"; the "Canonización"; the "Diálogo de Bías contra Fortuna"; conclusions.
XIV. THE GREAT MASTERS OF THE FIFTEENTH CENTURY. JUAN DE MENA	234
The "Laberinto de Fortuna"; the "Coronación"; minor works, the "Debate of Reason against Will" and the "Conversation with Death."
XV. OTHER ALLEGORIES OF THE FIFTEENTH AND EARLY SIXTEENTH CENTURIES	242
The Panegyrists, Gómez Manrique, Diego de Burgos, Diego Guillén de Avila, Diego del Castillo, and Juan del Encina; Don Enrique de Villena; Juan Rodríguez de la Cámara; Alfonso de la Torre; Alfonso Fernández de Palencia and political allegory; Juan de Padilla; later allegory.
XVI. THE RELATION BETWEEN ALLEGORICAL ART AND LITERATURE	277
NOTES	291
INDEX	327