

Contents

List of Figures ix

Acknowledgments xiii

Introduction xv

1 A Brief History of the Archive 1

Archives 0.0 and 1.0 2

Archives 2.0 9

Archives 3.0 and 4.0 15

2 Archives as Archaeological Sites 27

Digging up the Archive 28

Archaeology, the Punctum and the Archive 30

Archaeological Toolbox 33

Media, Archaeology, and Remediation 36

Lynn Hershman Leeson's !W.A.R. 37

Toward an Archaeology of the !W.A.R. Archive(s) 52

3 Architecture, Memory, and the Archive 57

Memory, History, and the Archive 57

The Plurality of Memory 61

The Witness and the Archive: Remembering the Holocaust 64

Replaying Blast Theory's Rider Spoke 69

The Distributed Archive: Mapping, Memories in the Archive 76

4 Diasporic Archives 93

The Transformational Power of Diasporic Archives: Looking at Santu Mofokeng, The Black Photo Album / Look at Me: 1890–1950 94

Diaspora and the Archive, the Case of Digital Diaspora Family Reunion (DDFR) by Thomas Allen Harris 100

Toward a Fluid Ontology: The Case of "Creating Collaborative Catalogues" 107

I've Known Rivers: The Museum of African Diaspora Stories Project 113

5	The Art of Archiving	123
	The Curiosity Cabinet	124
	Archival Art: The cases of Marcel Duchamp's La boîte-en-valise ; Robert Morris's Card File: July 11–December 31, 1962 ; Andy Warhol's Time Capsules ; and Ant Farm's Citizen Time Capsule	131
	Citizen Archivists and the Power of Replay: The Case of sosolimited's ReConstitution	144
6	(A)live Archives	153
	Embodying the Archive: Musée de la Danse If Tate Modern was Musée de la Danse?	154
	The Smartness of Things	160
	Database Art: George Legrady's An Anecdoted Archive from the Cold War (1993) , Pockets Full of Memories and Pockets Full of Memories II ; Natalie Bookchin's Databank of the Everyday ; Eduardo Kac's Time Capsule ; Christine Borland's HeLa and HeLa, Hot ; Lynn Hershman Leeson's The Infinity Engine	162
	Afterword	181
	References	185
	Index	203