Preface	ix
1. Introduction	1
1.1 Uncertainty about Counterfactuals	2
1.2 Where Uncertainty Shows Up	5
1.3 The Debate about Indicative Conditionals	6
1.4 Counterfactuals	11
1.5 Standard Semantics	13
1.6 Systematizing the Data	16
1.7 Identifying the Challenge	19
1.8 Non-Standard Explanations	21
1.9 Modifying the Semantics	25
1.10 Overview	27
2. The Problem of Evaluating Counterfactuals	29
2.1 Probability	30
2.2 Prior Epistemic Probabilities	39
2.3 Hypothetical Epistemic Probabilities	45
2.4 Prior Propensities	48
2.4.1 Morgenbesser Cases	51
2.4.2 Counterfactuals and Determinism	54
2.4.3 Counterlegals	56
2.4.4 Probabilistic Modus Ponens	57
2.5 Conclusion	58
3. Counterfactual Chance	60
3.1 The Selection Function	60
3.2 Relevance and Chance	63
3.3 A Principal Principle for Counterfactuals	70
3.4 Admissible Evidence	72
3.5 Comparison with Skyrms	78
3.6 Imaging	79
3.7 Generalized Imaging	82
3.8 Imaging and the PP-Constraint	84
3.9 Some Methodological Considerations	88
3.10 Conclusion	92
4. A Puzzle About Counterfactuals	95
4.1 The Problem for Standard Semantics	96
4.2 The Puzzle	102
4.3 A Means of Escape	107

4.4	Comparison with Indicative Conditionals	110
4.5	Conclusion	114
5.	Restriction and Modification	116
5.1	The Restrictor View	117
5.2	Simple Conditionals	120
5.3	Counterfactual 'If'-Clauses as Restrictors	123
5.4	Counterfactual 'If'-Clauses as Modifiers	126
5.5	Variants of the View	131
5.6	The Lack of Independent Evidence	134
5.7	The Problem of Embeddings	138
5.8	Conclusion	144
6.	Counterfactuals and Arbitrariness	146
6.1	A Proposal	147
6.1.1	The Epsilon-Operator	149
6.1.2	Arbitrary Truth Conditions	153
6.1.3	The Logic of Counterfactuals	155
6.1.4	The Metaphysics of Arbitrariness	162
6.1.5	Comparisons	167
6.2	The Evaluation of Counterfactuals	168
6.2.1	Uniformity Reconsidered	170
6.2.2	Modelling the Epistemic Space	173
6.3	Knowability and Assertability	176
6.4	Revisiting the Puzzle	181
6.5	Conclusion	182
7.	Applications	183
7.1	Counterfactuals with a True Antecedent	183
7.2	Duality	188
7.3	Conditional Excluded Middle	194
7.4	The Limit Assumption	197
8.	Triviality	200
8.1	Lewis on Imaging	201
8.2	Leitgeb's Observation	203
8.3	Williams's Extension of Lewis's Triviality Result	205
8.4	Conclusion	212
9.	Concluding Remarks	215
9.1	Error Theories	216
9.2	Pragmatic Explanations	219
9.3	Unifying the Theory?	220
9.4	Conclusion	223
	Bibliography	225
	Index	235
