

FROM PERSONAL LIFE
TO PRIVATE LAW

JOHN GARDNER

OXFORD
UNIVERSITY PRESS

CONTENTS

Introduction	1
1. Three themes, and then a fourth	1
2. Personal life	6
3. Private law	14
4. Chapter synopsis	15
1. Something Came Between Us	20
1. Relations of duty	20
2. One thought too many, one reason too few	26
3. Some doubts about strict relationality	31
4. Strict relationality in legal relations	41
5. The duty of care	46
6. The relationality of rights	52
2. That's the Story of My Life	58
1. The ins and outs of wrongdoing	58
2. The biography argument	64
3. From biography to responsibility	71
4. Where justice comes in	75
5. The allocation of outcomes in life and in law	83
3. It's Not About the Money	88
1. The clamour for amends	88
2. On reconciliation	91
3. Reparation and rational continuity	98
4. The reparative uses of money	102
5. How reparation gets personal	107
6. From the personal to the interpersonal	116
7. Wrongs and losses	120
4. Say It with Flowers	125
1. The irreparable remains	125
2. Reasonable emotions	129
3. Making apology intelligible	145
4. Putting your money where your mouth is	152
5. Say it with money; say it with flowers	158

5. The Way Things Used To Be	161
1. Holding on and letting go	161
2. Reasons for holding on	168
3. No life without a past	178
4. From holding on to going back	181
5. Some unexplained points	187
6. Justice in security	189
6. That Was Then and This Is Now	195
1. Private law as a scheme of freedom	195
2. The powers of the parties	199
3. The enforcer	205
4. Putting it behind us	216
5. Into the sunset, carrying the loot	226
Name Index	233
Subject Index	235