

CONTENTS

Preface	xiii
Acknowledgements	xv
Guided tour	xvii
 PART I: Introducing social psychology	 1
 Introducing social psychology	 3
What social psychology is and is not	4
Social psychology yesterday and today	6
Culture, globalization and social psychology	8
Applied social psychology	10
Science and social psychology	12
An overall perspective	15
A note on the text	15
Sources of information	16
Further reading	16
 1 Studying social behaviour	 17
Finding patterns in nature	18
Measurement	19
Research methods	21
Non-experimental methods	22
Experimental methods	30
Cross-cultural research	36
Meta-analysis	38
Research ethics	39
A final note	43
Summary	43
Further reading	44
Weblinks	44
 PART II: Understanding your social world	 45
 2 Social perception and cognition	 47
Forming impressions of people	49
Attributions of causality	51
Attribution theories	52
Attributional biases	55
An evaluation of attribution theories	60
Social cognition	61

Contents

Categorical thinking: The schema	62
Processing social information	64
Construal-level theory and counterfactual thinking	66
Rapid reasoning	67
Integrative complexity in thinking	73
A final note	74
Summary	74
Further reading	75
Weblinks	76
3 The social self	77
Self-schemata and their effects	79
Self-evaluation	87
Self-regulation	94
Culture and the self	96
Presenting ourselves to others	98
Knowing yourself, or feeling good about yourself?	101
Final note	102
Summary	103
Further reading	103
Weblinks	104
4 Attitudes, ideologies and values	105
The nature of attitudes	107
Measuring attitudes	111
Ideology	113
Personal and social values	115
Character values	116
Functions of attitudes	122
The relationship between attitudes and behaviour	123
A final note	129
Summary	130
Further reading	131
Weblinks	131
PART III: Influencing others	133
5 Attitude change	135
From the inside out: Cognitive consistency and attitude change	137
The evolution of cognitive dissonance theory	142
A revised model of cognitive dissonance	145
Attitude change: From the outside in: Persuasion and attitude change	147
What predicts persuasion?	148
How these factors combine	153
Persuasion and cognition: A dual-process approach	155
Elaboration likelihood model	156
Limits to persuasion	159
Is attitude change 'real'?	162

A final note	162
Summary	163
Further reading	164
Weblinks	164
6 Social influence	165
Unintended social influence	166
Conformity	171
Direct influence	176
The adamant minority	178
Nonconformity and innovation	180
Intentional influence	181
Obedience	185
Disobedience	194
A final note	196
Summary	196
Further reading	197
Weblinks	198
7 Language and communication	199
What is said: The words	202
How it is said: Paralanguage	203
Who said it: Language and impressions of the speaker	205
Language and gender: Do women and men speak differently?	210
Language and discrimination	212
Language accommodation and group boundaries	213
Who becomes bilingual?	215
Non-verbal communication	217
Categories of non-verbal behaviour	220
A final note	231
Summary	231
Further reading	232
Weblinks	232
PART IV: Friends and foes	233
8 Interpersonal attraction and close relationships	235
Affiliation and attachment	236
Interpersonal attraction	239
The power of physical attractiveness	239
Similarity and attraction	242
Reinforcement, reciprocity and attraction	244
Intimacy and close relationships	246
Love	252
Relationship problems	258
Loneliness	261
Summary	263
Further reading	264
Weblinks	264

9 Prosocial behaviour	265
Exploring the meaning of prosocial behaviour	266
The roots of prosocial behaviour	267
Prosocial reactions to help and harm	277
Taking prosocial action: Volunteerism	279
The bystander effect	281
Heroism	287
The beneficiary	290
A final note	294
Summary	294
Further reading	295
Weblinks	296
10 Cooperation and conflict	297
Social exchange theory	300
Social conflict as a 'game'	303
Factors affecting the course of conflict	311
Intergroup conflict	317
Resolution of conflict	321
A final note	324
Summary	324
Further reading	325
Weblinks	326
11 Aggression	327
Exploring the meaning of aggression	328
Researching aggression	330
The roots of aggression	331
Is violence sick?	354
The General Aggression Model	356
The reduction of aggression	357
A final note	358
Summary	358
Further reading	359
Weblinks	360
PART V: People in groups	361
12 Social identity, groups and leadership	363
Social categorization, identification and comparison	365
Social comparison	372
Social Identity Theory and Self-Categorization Theory	372
Small groups	376
Leadership	378
Characteristics of the leader	382
Group decision-making	392
Groupthink	394
A final note	395
Summary	396

Further reading	397
Weblinks	397
13 Prejudice	399
Prejudice	400
The nature of prejudice	402
The affective component of prejudice	407
Discrimination: The behavioural component of prejudice	410
The origins of prejudice	412
The prejudiced personality	413
The victims of prejudice	415
Can prejudice be reduced or eliminated?	418
Sexism	423
Summary	426
Further reading	427
Weblinks	428
14 Crowds and collective behaviour	429
What is collective behaviour?	432
Contagion	440
Rumour	447
Urban legends	451
Conspiracy theories	451
Fads and fashions	452
Social movements	454
A final note	457
Summary	457
Further reading	458
Weblinks	459
PART VI: Social psychology in action	461
15 Applied social psychology	463
Social psychology and the law	464
The trial	464
Justice	472
Health and well-being	477
Psychosocial health risks	478
Treatment and recovery	484
Social psychology and public health	488
Well-being: More than absence of illness	490
Summary	492
Further reading	493
Weblinks	493
Bibliography	495
Glossary	597
Author index	617
Subject index	623