

Beowulf on Film

Adaptations and Variations

NICKOLAS HAYDOCK and
E.L. RISDEN

McFarland & Company, Inc., Publishers
Jefferson, North Carolina, and London

Contents

Acknowledgments	vi
Introduction — A Freud Complex and the Problem of Beowulf in Film (E.L. RISDEN)	1
1 — Film Theory, the Sister Arts Tradition and the Cinematic Beowulf (NICKOLAS HAYDOCK)	27
2 — The Cinematic Commoditization of Beowulf : The Serial Fetishizing of a Hero (E.L. RISDEN)	66
3 — Making Sacrifices (NICKOLAS HAYDOCK)	81
4 — The Hero, the Mad Male Id and a Feminist Beowulf : The Sexualizing of an Epic (E.L. RISDEN)	119
5 — O Dragon, Where Art Thou? “Othering” in Beowulf Films (E.L. RISDEN)	132
6 — Meat Puzzles: Beowulf and the Horror Film (NICKOLAS HAYDOCK)	143
7 — Our Man Beowulf: Bowra, Ker and the Contemporary Struggle with Heroism (E.L. RISDEN)	167
Conclusion — The Postmodern Beowulf (NICKOLAS HAYDOCK)	177
Chapter Notes	191
Works Cited	201
Index	205