

Duck-Joo Kwak

Education for Self-transformation

Essay Form as an Educational Practice

Contents

1 Introduction: Education as Self-transformation and the Essay Form of Writing: Education for a Post-secular Age	1
References.....	20
Part I George Lukács: Practice of Philosophy for Existential Fulfillment
2 A Reflection on the Relation Between Philosophy and Life; Through Hans Blumenberg’s Work	23
Introduction: Knowledge and Existential Anxiety, What Is Their Connection?	23
A Way to the Loss of Existential Fulfillment: From Plato to Bacon	25
Conclusion: Learning from Nominalists’ Wisdom.....	30
References.....	31
3 A Response to Modernity Between Reason and Faith: Kierkegaard’s Ideas of the Ethical Self and Subjectivity	33
Introduction: “Being Educated” and “Being Ethical”	33
Relation Between Subjectivity and Being Ethical	35
Conclusion: Educational Implications of Kierkegaard’s Indirect Communication.....	40
References.....	41
4 Practicing Philosophy, the Practice of Education: Exploring the Essay-Form Through Lukács’ Soul and Form	43
Introduction: In Pursuit of a Pedagogical Form of Writing	43
Philosophy and Life-Form	45
Life-Form and the Essay Form of Writing.....	53
Conclusion: The Essay Form of Writing as an Educational Practice	56
References.....	57

Part II Stanley Cavell: Practice of Education in the Essay-Form

5 Stanley Cavell's Ordinary Language Philosophy as an Example of Practicing Philosophy in the Essay-Form: In Search of a Humanistic Approach to Teacher Education	61
Introduction: A Humanistic Approach to Teacher Education.....	61
The Methodological Characteristics of Cavell's Ordinary Language Philosophy	64
The Educational Aspiration of Cavell's Ordinary Language Philosophy.....	70
Conclusion: A Role for Philosophy in Teacher Education	74
References.....	77
6 Philosophy as the Essay Form of Writing: Cavell's Concepts of Voice, Method, and Text.....	79
Introduction: The Essay as a Form of Writing for Self-knowledge.....	79
Montaigne and the Essay: Its Educational Nature and Purpose	80
Cavell's Philosophical Writing: Voice, Method, and Text.....	86
Conclusion: The Philosophical Voice and the Essay	102
References.....	104
7 Cavell's Essayist as the Political Self: Implication for Citizenship Education.....	107
Introduction: The Private, the Philosophical, and the Political.....	107
The Political Dimension of Cavell's Moral Perfectionism	110
Conversation of Justice for Equality from Within and Active Equality	121
Conclusion: A Picture of the Cavellian Citizen: "Bourgeoisie with a Desire to Go Beyond Bourgeois Morality"	130
References.....	132
8 Conclusion: The Essay Form of Writing for a Tragic Form of Subjectivity	135
References.....	141
Index.....	143