

Decolonizing Indigeneity

New Approaches to Latin American Literature

Thomas Ward

LEXINGTON BOOKS
Lanham • Boulder • New York • London

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction: The Coloniality of Literary Practice	xi
1 Colonial Force: Word Choices, the Denial of Nationness, and the Coloniality of Mind	1
2 The Popol Wuj and the Birth of Mayan Literature	35
3 Coloniality of Mind in Zárate's Historia del descubrimiento y conquista del Perú	63
4 Alva Ixtlilxochitl, Civilization, and the Quest for Coevalness	95
5 González Prada and Menchú: Indigenist and Indigenous Expression	131
Final Thoughts: Overcoming Coloniality in Literature and History	183
Appendix: Chapter Comparison of Book 1 of Zárate's Chronicle	197
Bibliography	199
Index	237
About the Author	261