

Contents

List of abbreviations	ix
List of figures	xi
Notes on the contributors	xiii
Introduction	1
Zeta Brown and Helen Perkins
Part I – Research in early education	5
1 Reflexivity in educational research	7
Jackie Musgrave
2 Ethical considerations in using innovative methods in early education research	19
Kieran Hodgkin and Gary Beauchamp
3 Going beyond participatory ideology when doing research with young children: the case for ethical permeability and relatability	31
Ioanna Palaiologou
Part II – Researching with children	47
4 Art as a method of research	49
Elisabetta Biffi and Franca Zuccoli

5	The use of drawing methods with young children in research Helen Lyndon	63
6	Listening to young children in messy, playful research Laura Heads and Michael Jopling	77
7	Play-based interview techniques with young children Sarah Holmes	92
8	Using the mosaic approach as an ethnographic methodology Zenna Kingdon	109
9	Using video to research outdoors with young children Gary Beauchamp, Chantelle Haughton, Cheryl Ellis, Siân Sarwar, Jacky Tyrie, Dylan Adams and Sandra Dumitrescu	124
10	The use of vignettes in research with young children Ioanna Palaiologou	138
Part III – Researching with practitioners and parents		153
11	The use of identity boxes as a research method Helen Perkins	155
12	Narrative inquiry: storying lived experiences with early childhood student-practitioners Lynn Richards	174
13	The use of observations in early childhood research Jackie Musgrave	188
14	Q-methodology: seeking communalities in perspectives of young children and practitioners Zeta Brown and Gavin Rhoades	202
	Index	216