

Contents / Inhoud

Joanna Woodall, Bart Ramakers & Ann-Sophie Lehmann	Ars amicitiae. Introduction	6
Marisa Anne Bass	Arnolfini's best friend. Fellowship and familiarity in Jan van Eyck's Arnolfini portrait	20
Bart Ramakers	That's what friends are for. Amicable exchanges in Cornelis Everaert's Play of a jubilee	48
Alice Zamboni	Making contact. Friendship and collaboration in the circle of Netherlandish artists at the Munich court of Wilhelm V	62
Edward H. Wouk	A portrait of the artist as friend. The painted likeness of Lambert Lombard	96
Adam Sammut	With a little help from his friends. Rubens and the acquisition of Caravaggio's Rosary Madonna for the Dominican church in Antwerp	118
Michele L. Frederick	Affectionate sister, most faithful friend. Elizabeth Stuart and Gerrit van Honthorst's Seladon and Astraea	160
Joanna Woodall	'Thus am I accustomed to treat friends'. Engaging with a roemer engraved by Maria Roemers Visscher.	192
Larissa Weiler	'For an assured freende is the medicine of life'. Van Dyck and the English Virtuoso	214
H. Perry Chapman	Rembrandt, Lievens, Dou. Imagining artistic friendship	240
Erna E. Kok	Joachim von Sandrart, aristocrat-painter in Amsterdam, 1637-1645. His friends, art and successes	258
Thijs Weststeijn	'Intoxicated, we listened to warblers and swallows chattering in the spring wind'. Art in the friendship between François de Rougemont and Wu Li	294
Nicole Elizabeth Cook	Titia Brongersma's polymathic career and spheres of early modern creative friendship	310
Mayken Jonkman	'Mille compliments et amitiés'. Friendships in the making of Gerard van Spaendonck's Parisian career	336