

Contents

Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xxv
About the Authors	xxvii
1. What Are Student-Faculty Partnerships? Our Guiding Principles and Definition	1
2. Preliminary Questions about Student-Faculty Partnerships	15
3. Partnerships with Students Examples from Individual Faculty	27
4. Program-Level Approaches to Student-Faculty Partnerships	59
5. Outcomes of Student-Faculty Partnerships Support from Research Literature and Outcomes for Faculty and Students	97
6. The Challenges of Student-Faculty Partnerships	133
7. Practical Strategies for Developing Student-Faculty Partnerships	143
8. Further Questions about Student-Faculty Partnerships	171
9. Assessing Processes and Outcomes of Student-Faculty Partnerships	187

10. Next Steps . . . Toward a Partnership Movement?	203
Appendix I: The Ladder of Active Student Participation in Curriculum Design	213
Appendix II: Guidelines for the Students as Learners and Teachers (SaLT) Program at Bryn Mawr College (Modified for This Volume)	217
Appendix III: Practical Strategies for Developing Student-led Research Projects From the Students as Change Agents Program, University of Exeter, United Kingdom	229
References	231
Index	257