

CONTENTS

| | |
|--|------|
| Foreword | viii |
| Acknowledgement | xi |
| I The gnosis of Mani | 1 |
| 1. Mesopotamia in the late Parthian period | 1 |
| 2. The teachings of Mani | 5 |
| II The apostle of Jesus Christ | 25 |
| 1. Judaeo-Christianity in Mesopotamia in the second century | 25 |
| 2. Mani and the Elchasaites | 28 |
| 3. Gnostic and other Christian influences on Mani | 37 |
| 4. Mani's first missionary journeys | 54 |
| III Mission and the Manichaeian church | 60 |
| 1. Mani's view of mission: | 60 |
| 2. The first Manichaeian missions to the west | 63 |
| 3. The political and cultural background of the earliest Manichaeian missions to the west | 65 |
| 4. Commerce and mission | 69 |
| 5. The eastward spread of Manichaeism and the death of Mani | 78 |
| 6. Manichaeism in the Roman empire after the death of Mani | 85 |
| IV The state, the church and Manichaeism (302-83) | 91 |
| 1. The serpent from Persia | 91 |
| 2. From Constantine to Jovian | 95 |
| 3. Sorcery and heresy | 109 |
| V ' Ingens fabula et longum mendacium ' - Augustine and Manichaeism | 117 |
| 1. The critical appeal of Manichaeism | 118 |
| 2. The sectarian appeal of Manichaeism | 133 |
| 3. The aesthetic appeal of Manichaeism | 139 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 4. Manichaeism and astrology | 140 |
| 5. The ascetical appeal of Manichaeism | 143 |
| 6. The dualistic appeal of Manichaeism | 149 |
| 7. Epilogue: Augustine's break with the Manichaeans | 152 |
| VI 'The most persecuted of heresies' | 154 |
| 1. The bishops and the Manichaeans | 154 |
| 2. The popes and the Manichaeans | 164 |
| 3. Manichaeism in early Byzantium | 170 |
| VII From Mesopotamia to Ch'ang-an | 178 |
| 1. Manichaeism in Transoxania (fourth to seventh centuries AD) | 178 |
| 2. Manichaeism as the religion of the 'western barbarians' | 184 |
| 3. Manichaeism in T'ang China (seventh to ninth centuries AD) | 189 |
| 4. Manichaeism in the Uighur kingdoms of Kan-su and Turfan | 199 |
| VIII Mani the Buddha of Light | 202 |
| 1. The Chinese Manichaean texts from Tun-huang | 202 |
| 2. The eastern transformation of Manichaeism | 206 |
| 3. The Buddha of Light | 210 |
| 4. The Taoicisation of Mani | 213 |
| 5. The self-identity of Chinese Manichaeism | 217 |
| IX The Religion of Light in south China (ninth to sixteenth centuries AD) | 220 |
| 1. The Five Dynasties (907-60) | 220 |
| 2. Manichaean scriptures and the Taoist Canon under the northern Sung dynasty | 225 |
| 3. Manichaeism and popular dissent in northern Sung | 228 |
| 4. Manichaeism in southern Sung | 243 |
| 5. Manichaeism under the Mongols (1280-1368) | 255 |
| 6. The Religion of Light (Ming-chiao) and the Dynasty of Light (Ming-chao) (1368-c. 1630) | 259 |
| List of Abbreviations | 265 |
| Notes | 270 |
| Bibliography of works cited | 314 |
| I Primary sources | 314 |
| (a) Syriac | 314 |
| (b) Greek and Latin | 316 |
| (c) Chinese | 322 |

| | | |
|-----|---|-------|
| II | Secondary works | 325 |
| | (a) In western languages | 325 |
| | (b) In Chinese and Japanese | 341 |
| III | Addenda | 343 |
| | Index and glossary | 345 |
| | Maps | |
| | 1. The Near East in the time of Mani | xv |
| | 2. The Silk Road from China to the Roman Orient | xvi |
| | 3. South China | xviii |