

CONTENTS

PROLOGUE	7
I A NEW LOOK	9
The Gospel of John. The 'new look'. John's tradition independent? Johannine and synoptic comparisons. Further evidence from manuscripts, background research, Qumran and topography. The Gospel tradition.
II WHO WAS JOHN?	41
John's background: possible Greek and Jewish influence. External and internal evidence bearing on John and John's Gospel. The date of the Gospel.
III HOW JOHN WROTE	85
The structure of the Fourth Gospel: the signs, discourses and 'I am' sayings. The relation of the prologue and epilogue to the Gospel. Is John's Gospel a literary unity? Relevant data from Johannine source criticism. The origin of John's Gospel.
IV WHY JOHN WROTE	122
Possible reasons for writing the Fourth Gospel: to supplement the synoptic Gospels; to restate the Christian gospel in Hellenised terms; as polemic or apologetic; for liturgical use. Our view of John's purpose: 'seeing and believing'. John's audience. The provenance of the Gospel.
V JOHN: EVANGELIST	150
John as a traditional evangelist; his kerygma. John and Paul. John and Mark. John and history. History behind John's signs. History behind the discourses.
VI JOHN: INTERPRETER	191
John's gospel drama. Salvation in the Fourth Gospel. The sacramental dimension. The Gospel's christology. Glorification; Spirit and church; eschatology. John as an interpreter of the gospel tradition.

EPILOGUE	243
BIBLIOGRAPHY	253
ABBREVIATIONS	266
INDEXES	269
MAIN JOHANNINE PASSAGES	271
MODERN AUTHORS	273
SUBJECTS	279