

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	x
1 Introduction Beatrice de Graaf, Frédéric Dessberg, and Thomas Vaisset	1
Part I Politico-Military Relationship
2 Peacemaking and Civil-Military Relations, 1918–23 Hew Strachan	15
3 The Post–Cold War US Army and Debates over Peacekeeping Operations David Fitzgerald	37
4 Soldier or Diplomat? The Gray Area of UN Peacekeeping in Cambodia Wietse Stam	52
5 United Nations Military Observers in Former Yugoslavia: Strategic Influencers or Sitting Ducks? Dion Landstra and Thomas Wijnaendts van Resandt	68
Part II The Military and the Population
6 Turning “Enemies” into “Friends”: The Role of the Military in Peacemaking in France after Napoleon (1815–18) Christine Haynes	91
7 “War against War”: The Anti-militarist Activities of Greek War Veterans (1922–5) Alexandros Makris	107
8 Building Insecurity? Military and Paramilitary Forces in Postwar Czechoslovak Borderlands (1945–8) Paul Lenormand	120
Part III The Military as a Source of Expertise
9 Alexei Orlov, General of the Russian Army and Military in the Service of Diplomacy Elena Linkova	139
10 The Naval Officer, a Peacekeeper in Europe (1815–48)? Keeping European Peace Overseas and Consolidating French Naval Power Hélène Vencent	151

11	Soldiers versus Veterans: Peacemaking in Britain after Napoleon Evan Wilson	164
12	The Price of Disobedience: The Eastern French Army in Albania (1918–25) Renaud Dorlhiac	179
	Bibliography	195
	Notes on Contributors	217
	Index	221