Contents

Figures viii
Acknowledgements ix

1 Valuing the Historic Environment 1

Reflection 3
Values in heritage policies and practice 5
Research design 8
Institutional context 10
Positioning this study 11
Notes on the text 12

2 Bringing Social Value into Frame 18

Values in arts and culture 19
Social value in heritage instruments 21
Social value in UK and Scottish frameworks 27
Critical heritage studies and social value 29
Aspects of social value 33
Conclusion 37

3 The Production of Knowledge 44

Knowledge production 45
Community participation and expertise 47
Qualitative methodologies 51
Research methods 52
Analysis and writing 56
Rapid approaches 57
Participant engagement and ethics 58
Conclusion 60

4 Case Study Research 67

Case study selection 69
Case study descriptions 70
The Arnol Blackhouse, Isle of Lewis 70
Cables Wynd House, Edinburgh 75
The Caterthuns (Brown and White), Angus 78
Dun Carloway Broch, Isle of Lewis 81
The Hood Stones, Loch Eriboll 84
Kinneil House and Estate, Bo'ness 88
Sauchiehall Lane, Glasgow 92
Case study reports 95
Practitioner engagement 96
Ethical considerations 97
Conclusion 98

5 Understanding Values and Communities 105

Ownership and belonging 106
Spiritual connections 109
Care and attention 111
Site-based practices 113
Community membership 115
Community relationships 118
Silences and absences 120
Conclusion 121

6 Methods as Ways of Knowing 125

Interviews 126
In-person observation 130
Group activities 132
Participatory activities 133
Netnography and online 135
Photography 137
Creative 139
Discussion 141
Combining and sequencing methods 142
Conclusion 144

7 Assessments in Real-World Contexts 147

Vignette: Dun Carloway Broch 148
Approaches in practice 150
Vignette: Cables Wynd House 152
Research context 154
Research relationships 157
Conclusion 159

8 Working with Social Values in Practice 163

Complexity 164
Recording social values 164
Engaging with complexity 168
Combining knowledges 171
Creativity 174
Opportunity 177
Conclusion 181

9 Future Heritage Practice 187

Research findings 188
Implications for heritage practice 191
Assembling future practice 195

Appendices 201

I: Case Study Profiles 202
II: Summary of Case Study Methods and Approaches 204
III: Directory of Case Study Reports 206
The Arnol Blackhouse, Isle of Lewis 206
Cables Wynd House, Edinburgh 207
The Caterthuns (Brown and White), Angus 207
Dun Carloway Broch, Isle of Lewis 209
The Hood Stones, Loch Eriboll 210
Kinneil House and Estate, Bo'ness 211
Sauchiehall Lane, Glasgow 212
Index 214