

CONTENTS

General Editor's Preface
MAX SAUNDERS 9

Introduction
ROB HAWKES 13

SECTION 1: SOUND, SILENCE, AND PERFORMANCE

'A Taboo on the Mention of Taboo':
Taciturnity and Englishness in Parade's End and André Maurois' *Les Silences du Colonel Bramble
JOHN ATTRIDGE 23

From Conversation to Humiliation:
Parade's End and the Eighteenth Century
SARA HASLAM 37

'Are You Going to Mind the Noise?':
Mapping the Soundscape of *Parade's End
TOM VANDEVELDE 53

Wagner's Ring Cycle and *Parade's End
ANGUS WRENN 67

'The 'ind Legs of the Elephink':
Pantomime, Prophecy, and Tosh in *Parade's End
JOHN B. MURPHY 81

SECTION 2: PSYCHO-GEOGRAPHY OF WAR

Panorama, the Map, and the Divided Self: *No Enemy,
No More Parades*, and Tolkien's *The Lord of the Rings
MICHAEL CHARLESWORTH 95

Sight and Scale in Parade's End ELIZABETH HODGES	107
How Much Mud Does a Man Need? Land and Liquidity in Parade's End SEAMUS O'MALLEY	119
Tietjens Walking, Ford Talking PAUL SKINNER	129
War and Division in Parade's End ADAM PIETTE	141
SECTION 3: CONTRASTS: LOVE, DEATH, AND ALTERITY
Ford and Lewis: The Attraction of Opposites ROB SPENCE	153
'Cleaned, Sand-Dried Bones': Christopher Tietjens and the Labour of War AUSTIN RIEDE	161
Articulations of Femininity in Parade's End ISABELLE BRASME	173
'Better Far': Ford and Rossettian Attitudes ALEC MARSH	187
Death in the Wasteland: Ford, Wells, and Waugh JOSEPH WIESENFARTH	197
Contributors	207
Abstracts	213
Other Volumes in the Series	221
The Ford Madox Ford Society	223