

Contents

ix Preface

1 Chapter 1. Human Imitation: Historical, Philosophical, and Scientific Perspectives
Scott R. Garrels

39 Part 1. Imitation in Child Development and Adult Psychology

41 Chapter 2. From Universal Mimesis to the Self Formed by Desire
Jean-Michel Oughourlian

55 Chapter 3. Out of the Mouths of Babes: Imitation, Gaze, and Intentions in Infant Research—the “Like Me” Framework
Andrew N. Meltzoff

75 Chapter 4. Emotions and Mimesis
Paul Dumouchel

87 Chapter 5. The Two Sides of Mimesis: Mimetic Theory, Embodied Simulation, and Social Identification
Vittorio Gallese

109	Part 2. Imitation in Human Evolution, Culture, and Religion
111	Chapter 6. Imitation, Communion, and Culture Ann Cale Kruger
129	Chapter 7. Imitation and Violence: Empirical Evidence and the Mimetic Model Mark R. Anspach
155	Chapter 8. Sacred Violence, Mimetic Rivalry, and War Melvin Konner
175	Chapter 9. Desire, Mimesis, and the Phylogeny of Freedom William B. Hurlbut
193	Chapter 10. Naturalizing Mimetic Theory Jean-Pierre Dupuy
215	Chapter 11. Mimesis and Science: An Interview with René Girard Scott R. Garrels
255	Contributors
261	Index