

SANSOVINO'S VENICE

A Translation of Francesco Tatti da Sansovino's
Guidebook to Venice of 1561

by

VAUGHAN HART and PETER HICKS

YALE UNIVERSITY PRESS
NEW HAVEN AND LONDON

CONTENTS

Preface	xi
Acknowledgements	xxv
Introduction	1
Note on the Translation	62
On the Notable Things which are in Venice, Two Books, 1561	65
Appendix One: 'In the Ninth Book, the subject is the manner, commodity and beauty of the building of private palaces in Venice, their number, and the wealth of their ornamentation', from F. Sansovino, Venetia città nobilissima et singolare (Venice, 1581), fols 139 ^v –146 ^r	233
Appendix Two: Churches and their relics, as well as a 'Description of some of the things worth knowing about in this city', added at the end of the 1587 edition of Delle cose notabili che sono in Venetia, libri 2 (On the Notable Things), pp. 140–49	242
Appendix Three: Francesco Sansovino's vita , letter addressed to Gian Filippo Magnanini and dated 15 December 1579, in Del Secretario di M. Francesco Sansovino, Libri VII (Venice, 1584 ed.), fols 219 ^r –222 ^r	250
Commentary	254
Bibliography	329
Index	353