

Project and Program Management

A Competency-Based Approach,
Sixth Edition

By Mitchell L. Springer

Purdue University Press, West Lafayette, Indiana

Contents

List of Illustrations	xiii
Preface	xxi
Introduction	1
Chapter 1. Program/Project Management Competencies	7
Student PM Competency Model Paper Guidelines	9
Chapter 2. The Importance of Program/Project Management	13
Chapter 3. Process Management—Evolution and Definition	21
Historical Orientation	21
General Program Planning Models	27
Integrated Linear Models versus Integrated Nonlinear Models	28
Evaluation Methodologies and Accountability	29
Composition of a Planning Process	30
Chapter 4. Contract Types—What Type of Contract Should I Enter Into?	33
Factors in Selecting a Contract Type	34
Fixed Price Contracts	35
Cost Reimbursement Contracts	37
Time and Materials Contracts	39
Labor Hour Contracts	39
Letter Contracts	40
Exercises	40
Chapter 5. The Bidding Process—Obtaining a Price Quote	43
Bid Organization	45
Responsibility Assignment Matrix	47
Before the Request for Proposal	47
On Receipt of the Request for Proposal	47
Proposal Generation Process	50
Review and Approval Process	50
Submittal Process	52
Post-Submittal Process	52
Post-Decision Process	53
Statement of Work	54
Technical Specification	55
Work Breakdown Structure	56
Classes of Estimates	56
Chapter 6. Defining the Work to be Performed	59
A Shortened Perspective	59
A More Detailed Perspective	67

Chapter 7. Scheduling and Staffing the Work	79
Types of Schedules	79
Network Approaches	84
Closing Thoughts on Developing a Network Diagram	89
Master Schedule	90
Intermediate Schedule	90
Detailed Schedules	91
Human Resource Plan	92
A More Detailed Perspective	93
Chapter 8. Risk Management—Mitigating the Impact	105
Risk Planning	106
Risk Assessment	107
Risk Analysis	109
Risk Handling	112
Chapter 9. Disruptive Technologies—Thinking Outside of the Box	115
Chapter 10. Cost, Schedule, and Performance Management—
A Quantitative Premise	123
Defining the Initial Budget	123
Determining How We Are Performing against the Initial Budget	124
Keeping Track of Actual Costs	125
Getting Back on Schedule and Within Cost	126
A More Detailed Perspective	127
Course Project Details and Examples	143
Chapter 11. Multiple Generations in the Workplace—
It's How We Grew Up	149
Late Adulthood Gerontological Life Phase (60+)	153
Middle Adulthood Gerontological Life Phase (40–60)	155
Early Adulthood Gerontological Life Phase (20–40)	156
Adolescence Gerontological Life Phase (10–20)	157
Cohort Group (Veterans)	157
Cohort Group (Boomers)	162
Cohort Group (Generation Xers)	168
Cohort Group (Gen Y; Nexters; Millennials)	173
Cohort Group (Gen Z; 2019 Perspective)	178
Concluding Remarks on the Nurture Side	184
The New Next Professional Working Adult Learner
(An Application of Collective Thought, 2019 Perspective)	185
Who Are the Students?	186
Why Are College Costs So High?	187
Moving Back Home and Its Implications	190
Postponing Marriage and Children	191
Postponing the Purchasing of Material Possessions	195
Concluding Thoughts	196
Chapter 12. Connecting Generational Cohorts to Associative Thinking	197
Understanding the Breadth and Depth of a Discipline	197
“Seeing” across Disciplines	197
Practical Experience and Ability to Recognize the Bigger Picture	198

Ability to Recognize Cultural Realities	198
Understanding of Current Technologies	198
Unbounded by Hierarchical Pressures	199
Propensity for “Just Trying It”	199
Chapter 13. Leadership and Gender—A Science-Based Understanding	201
Differences in Neural Blood Flow Patterns	203
Differences in Structures of the Brain	204
Differences in Brain Chemistry	205
Leadership—Interpersonal Relationships	205
Leadership—Management Styles	206
Leadership—Things We Might See	206
Leadership—In Meetings	206
Chapter 14. Motivation and Leadership—Why We Do What We Do	209
Need Theories	209
Goal-Setting Theory	211
Reinforcement Theory	212
Equity Theory	212
Expectancy Theory	212
Chapter 15. Organization Design Models—
Not Right or Wrong, More or Less Applicable	215
Traditional	215
Product	217
Matrix	218
Project Management	220
Criteria for Selecting an Organizational Structure	221
Summary Remarks	221
A Return-on-Investment Force Multiplier of an Entrepreneurial Administrative Organization for Professional Studies
(An Application of Collective Thought)	222
An After-Action Review—Creating a Matrix Organizational Design Model for Online Education (An Application of Collective Thoughts)	229
Creating a Matrix Organizational Design Model	232
Historical Natural Evolution of Thought of a First of its Kind Online Doctor of Technology Degree Program
(An Application of Collective Thought)	237
Chapter 16. Building Teams—
Understanding Ourselves and Others through MBTI	253
Sensing (S) and Intuition (N)	253
Thinking (T) and Feeling (F)	254
Extraversion (E) and Introversion (I)	254
Judging (J) and Perceiving (P)	255
Type Combinations	255
Type and Organizational Change	255
Type Dynamics	256
Summary Thoughts by Type	257

Chapter 17. Capitalizing on the Collective Knowledge of the World	261
Availability of Skilled Labor	261
Skilled Labor Shortage Forecasts	262
Aging World Population	263
Retirement and the Working Senior Population	268
Science and Engineering Demographics	275
International Impact	279
Growing World Population	284
World's Education	285
Outsourcing of Goods and Services	295
Concluding Thoughts on the International Impact	301
Innovation, Technology, and the Systems Integrator	301
Understanding Technology as a Discipline	303
Integrating Intersectional Ideas	310
Creating an Integrative Mind-set	311
Systems Engineering—
The Cross-Discipline Eclectic Nature of Knowledge	312
Diversify Our Knowledge through Multiple Job Experiences	313
Summary Thoughts	314
Technology from a Worldwide Perspective	315
The Bio-Economy—A Truly Worldwide Experience	316
Dwindling Graduate Student Enrollments
in Distance-Based Programs (An Example)	322
Conclusion	335
Chapter 18. Establishing Program/Project Management as a Discipline	337
Chapter 19. Managers, Leaders, and Entrepreneurs	347
Defining Management	347
Management Functions	348
Management Roles	349
Management Skills	350
Leaders	351
Theories of Leadership	351
Power	354
Military Leadership Fundamentals	355
Entrepreneurs	357
Ethics at All Levels	359
Concluding Thoughts	360
Chapter 20. The American Social Economic Context	361
Prior to 1920	363
1920 to 1945	370
1945 to 1960	372
1960 to 1980	376
1980 to Present	378
Chapter 21. Career Development—Models	381
Moving Forward—The Four Questions	385
Educational Requirements of Engineering and Technology
Professional Working Adult Learners (Real-Life Example)	397
Mapping Employee Training and Development to Market
Requirements: Using a Corporate Market-Based Approach	404

Chapter 22. Succession Planning—Providing Opportunities for Growth	407
Why is Succession Planning Important?	407
Who is Succession Planning For?	408
Activities of Effective Succession Planning	408
What Do We Do When a Position Vacates?	408
Things to Remember	410
Who is Responsible?	410
Chapter 23. The Business Case for Diversity and Inclusivity	411
Business Case for Diversity and Inclusivity: It's All about Growth	415
Millennials Usher in Minority Majority	417
The Millennial View of Diversity and Inclusivity	419
Coercion, Groupthink, Bias, and Inherent Discrimination— (An Application of Collective Thought)	422
The Need to Survive and Reproduce	422
Reexamining our Subconscious and Unconscious Mind	426
We Are More Alike Than Different—Genomically Speaking	427
Changing U.S. Age, Racial and Ethnic Demographics and Their Impact on Higher Education (An Application of Collective Thought)	427
Gen Y (Millennials) and Gen Z Cultural Cohort Demographics: Social, Political and Economic Perspectives and Implications (An Application of Collective Thought)	444
Demographic Leadership—A First of Its Kind Diversity Leadership Online Course in a Tier-I University Doctorate Degree Program (An Application of Collective Thought)	452
Chapter 24. Effective Communication Skills	459
Encoding and Decoding Skills	460
Basic Rules for Addressing an Audience	461
Questions After the Presentation	462
Nonverbal Communication Skills	462
Listening Skills	462
Reading Skills	463
Skipping Judiciously	463
Communication Barriers	464
Organizational Communication	464
Conducting an Effective Meeting	465
Chapter 25. Change Management—People, the Hardest Part	467
Organizational Development—The Context of Change	467
Models of Change Management	469
Activities or Phases of the Change Management Process	471
Why Change Fails	472
Trust Through Character, Communication, and Capability	473
Managing Our Own Personal Change	474
Running the Academy as a Business (An Application of Collective Thought)	477
The Synergistic Implications of Personal Ownership (An Application of Collective Thought)	486
Creating Pride in Individual Efforts	487

How to Create Vision through Market-Based Analysis	489
Ownership Can Create Motivation	490
Fear Can Equally Stifle Action	492
Motivation is Hampered Through Entitlement	494
Closing Thoughts	496
Appendix A—Evaluating the Program Plan	497
Committee of Stakeholders	497
Primary Activities	497
Interviewing Program Participants	498
Outcome-Based Evaluation Methodology	499
Summary of Outcome-Based Evaluation Data Analysis Method	501
Appendix B—Executing the Program Plan	503
Appendix C—Changes to the Program Plan	504
Recognizing Changes	513
What Is a Change?	514
What Determines How a Contract Is Changed?	516
How Do Contractual Relationships Affect Changes?	516
Why Are Government Contract Changes Unique?	516
Why Do Changes Occur?	517
When Are Changes Likely to Occur?	518
What Are the Elements of a Change?	519
Common Names Given to Changes	519
What Types of Change Orders Can Occur?	522
Who Has the Authority to Order Changes?	523
When Can Changes Be Ordered?	525
What Changes Can Be Ordered?	525
What Response Does a Change Order Require?	526
When Is Changed Work Performed?	526
Appendix D—Program Planning Master Process Flow	529
Establish Planning Organization	529
Establish Program Management Library	531
Generate Requirements Database	534
Generate Master Program Schedule	535
Generate Preliminary Extended CWBS and Dictionary	537
Generate Preliminary Responsibility Assignment Matrix	539
Generate Intermediate Schedules	541
Generate Preliminary Detailed Schedules	542
Generate Human Resource Plan	544
Establish Program Organization	546
Post-Contract Award	547
Glossary	551
Bibliography	583
Index	597