

The book cover features a decorative border with floral and leaf motifs. The top and bottom borders consist of repeating panels: a square panel with a flower, a wide rectangular panel with a leafy branch, and another square panel with a flower. The left and right borders are vertical panels with a leafy branch. The central text is set against a dark background.

JEREMY M. NORMAN

A decorative flourish consisting of a central diamond shape with a floral pattern, flanked by two circles, all within a pointed frame.

THE SECOND PRINTING REVOLUTION

A decorative flourish consisting of a central diamond shape with a floral pattern, flanked by two circles, all within a pointed frame.

INVENTION OF MASS MEDIA

A decorative flourish consisting of a central diamond shape with a floral pattern, flanked by two circles, all within a pointed frame.

The Grolier Club • New York • 2026

Contents

Acknowledgements ix
Prologue xi

1.
Book Production During the First Century of the Industrial Revolution 1

2.
*Louis-Nicolas Robert and the Development of the Papermaking Machine in the
First Half of the Nineteenth Century.* . . . 25

3.
Friedrich Koenig Invents the Steam-Powered Printing Machine 43

4.
*Railroads, Power Looms, and Bibles:
Innovation Versus Tradition* 63

5.
Henry Brougham, Charles Knight, and the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge Use the Printing Machine to Reach Large Audiences 77

6.
*Image-Reproduction Methods Appropriate for Rotary Printing Machines: Wood
Engraving, Lithography, Steel Engraving,
Electrotyping* 97

7.
Developments in Mechanized Book and Newspaper Production, 1800–1850. . . . 109

8.
*Charles Dickens and His Imitators
Exploit the New Technologies with Great Success* 125

9.

The Development of Mechanized Printing in America: Daniel Treadwell, the American Bible Society, R. Hoe & Co., Isaac Adams, the Harper Brothers 135

10.

The Role of Women in Eighteenth- and Nineteenth-Century Book Production: Emily Faithfull 151

11.

Mechanizing Typesetting & Type Distribution from William Church to Young and Delcambre’s Pianotyp, and to Linotype and Monotype 165 12.

The Mechanization of Bookbinding: William Burn, William Pickering, Archibald Leighton, and Followers . . . 193

13.

The Mechanization of Book Production in the United States and Europe, 1851–1904: The Great Exhibition, George Baxter, Manuals and Promotional Books on Mechanized Printing, the Caxton Celebration and Bible 213

14.

The Mechanization of Newspaper Production in the United States and Europe, 1826–1900: The Hoe Family and Hippolyte Marinoni . . 237

CODA

William Morris, Theodore Low De Vinne, and Robert Hoe III Reflect on Nineteenth-Century Developments in Book Production 257

Notes 263

Bibliography 271

Index 293