CONSTITUTIONAL & ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

Nineteenth edition

A W Bradley MA, LLM, LLD, QC (Hon)

Lately Emeritus Professor of Constitutional Law, University of Edinburgh; Barrister, of the Inner Temple; Institute of European and Comparative Law, Oxford

K D Ewing LLB, PhD

Professor of Public Law, King's College, London

C J S Knight MA, BCL, KC

Barrister, of the Inner Temple

Pearson

BRIEF CONTENTS

Preface xv
Table of legislation xvii
Table of cases xxxi
Abbreviations lxxiii

PART I

Sources, structure and principles 1

1 Constitutional law: its meaning and sources 3
2 The structure of the United Kingdom 34
3 Parliamentary supremacy 55
4 The rule of law 91
5 Responsible and accountable government 114
6 United Kingdom and the European Union 133

PART II

The institutions of government 167

7 Composition of Parliament 169
8 Role and functions of Parliament 201
9 Privileges of Parliament 239
10 The Crown and royal prerogative 262
11 Cabinet, government departments and civil service 301
12 Public bodies and public appointments 339
13 Courts and the administration of justice 365

PART III

Personal liberty and human rights 401

14 Human Rights Act 403
15 Right to liberty and police powers 437
16 Right to privacy and surveillance powers 473
17 Right to freedom of expression 510
18 Right to freedom of association and assembly 543

19 National Security and Official Secrets 572
20 Exceptional and emergency powers 601

PART IV

Administrative law 639

21 What is administrative law? 641
22 Delegated legislation 654
23 Administrative justice 675
24 Judicial Review I: The Grounds of Review 703
25 Judicial Review II: Procedure and Remedies 747
26 Liability of public authorities 779

Bibliography 815
Index 824
Publisher's acknowledgements 832

CONTENTS

Preface xv
Table of legislation xvii
Table of cases xxxi
Abbreviations lxxiii

PART I

Sources, structure and principles 1

1 Constitutional law: its meaning and sources 3

A. Constitutional law – its meaning and scope 3
B. The formal sources of constitutional law 13
C. Other rules and principles, including constitutional conventions 20

2 The structure of the United Kingdom 34

A. The historic structure 34
B. Devolution of government 42
C. Government in England 51
D. Conclusion 53

3 Parliamentary supremacy 55

A. The growth of the legislative authority of Parliament 55
B. Meaning of legislative supremacy 59
C. The continuing nature of parliamentary supremacy 68
D. The Treaty of Union between England and Scotland 83
E. Conclusions 87

4 The rule of law 91

A. Historical development 93
B. The rule of law and its implications today 97
C. The separation of powers 107
D. Conclusion 113

5 Responsible and accountable government 114

A. The background 114
B. Collective responsibility 117
C. Individual responsibility of ministers 122

6 United Kingdom and the European Union 133

A. Joining the EEC 133
B. Legal obligations of membership 136

C. Constitutional implications of membership 143
D. Parliamentary sovereignty v popular sovereignty 150
E. Leaving the EU 155
F. A new relationship with the EU 161
G. Conclusion 165

PART II

The institutions of government 167

7 Composition of Parliament 169

A. The electoral system 169
B. Political parties 174
C. Election campaigns 179
D. Supervision of elections 185
E. Membership of the House of Commons 191
F. The House of Lords 196
G. Conclusion 200

8 Role and functions of Parliament 201

A. Functions of Parliament 201
B. Authorising expenditure and providing income 203
C. Enacting legislation: House of Commons procedure 209
D. Enacting legislation: House of Lords and Royal Assent 221
E. Scrutiny of the administration 229
F. Conclusion 237

9 Privileges of Parliament 239

A. House of Commons 240
B. Financial interests and payment of members 254
C. House of Lords 259

10 The Crown and royal prerogative 262

A. The monarchy 262
B. Personal prerogatives of the monarch 267
C. The King in Council 273
D. The royal prerogative 276
E. The royal prerogative and the courts 288
F. Conclusion 299

11 Cabinet, government departments and civil service 301

A. The Prime Minister 302
B. The Cabinet 307
C. Ministers and departments 312
D. Civil service: organisation and accountability 318
E. Civil service: ethics and standards 324
F. Open government and freedom of information 330
G. Conclusion 337

12 Public bodies and public appointments 339

A. Origins 340
B. Categories of public body 343
C. Status, functions and powers 347
D. Appointments to public bodies 353
E. Legality and accountability 356
F. Reform 359
G. Conclusion 362

13 Courts and the administration of justice 365

A. Judiciary and judicial appointments 365
B. Independence of the judiciary 370
C. Administration of justice and contempt of court 377
D. The executive and the machinery of justice 388
E. Prosecution of offenders and miscarriages of justice 393
F. Conclusion 399

PART III

Personal liberty and human rights 401

14 Human Rights Act 403

A. The classical approach 403
B. European Convention on Human Rights 405
C. The Human Rights Act 1998 418
D. Enhanced parliamentary scrutiny 433
E. Conclusion 435

15 Right to liberty and police powers 437

A. Police powers short of arrest 438
B. Police powers of arrest 440
C. Detention and questioning of suspects 446
D. Police powers of entry, search and seizure 451
E. Remedies for abuse of police powers 459
F. Accountability and control of the police 466
G. Conclusion 471

16 Right to privacy and surveillance powers 473

A. Surveillance: acquiring information 474
B. Communications and communications data 480
C. Data protection: storing and processing information 488
D. Police databases 498
E. Privacy and the press 502
F. Conclusion 508

17 Right to freedom of expression 510

A. The nature of legal protection 511

B. Prior restraint: censorship and ownership 513
C. Regulation of television and radio 516
D. Offences against public order 521
E. Obscene publications 526
F. Defamation 531
G. Breach of confidence and related matters 539
H. Conclusion 542

18 Right to freedom of association and assembly 543

A. Freedom of association 544
B. Freedom of assembly 545
C. Public processions and assemblies 547
D. Public Order Act 1986 and other offences 551
E. Protest and property rights 559
F. Common law powers of the police 565
G. Conclusion 571

19 National Security and Official Secrets 572

A. Security and intelligence services 572
B. Legal framework of security and intelligence services 577
C. Statutory and other safeguards against espionage and sabotage 585
D. Parliamentary scrutiny 595
E. Conclusion 599

20 Exceptional and emergency powers 601

A. Military aid to the civil authorities 602
B. Legislative responses to terrorism: what is terrorism? 607
C. Legislative responses to terrorism: terrorist investigations, police powers and terrorist offences 614
D. Legislative responses to terrorism: detention without trial, control orders, TPIMs and secret justice 620
E. Legislative responses to terrorism: travel restrictions and preventative measures 625
F. Emergency powers 630
G. Conclusion 636

PART IV

Administrative law 639

21 What is administrative law? 641

A. The functions and development of administrative law 642
B. Law and the administrative process 646
C. Conclusion 653

22 Delegated legislation 654

A. The need for delegated legislation 655
B. Types of delegated legislation 658
C. Control and supervision by Parliament 663

D. Challenge in the courts 668
E. Administrative rule-making 672
F. Conclusion 674

23 Administrative justice 675

A. Tribunals 676
B. Public inquiries 681
C. The Inquiries Act 2005 686
D. Ombudsmen 690
E. Conclusion 702

24 Judicial Review I: The Grounds of Review 703

A. Judicial review on substantive grounds 706
B. Legitimate expectations 728
C. Judicial review on procedural grounds 733
D. Conclusion 746

25 Judicial Review II: Procedure and Remedies 747

A. The judicial review procedure 747
B. The extent of judicial review 755
C. The limitation and exclusion of judicial review 760
D. Remedies and relief 765
E. Conclusion 777

26 Liability of public authorities 779

A. Liability of public authorities and the Crown in tort 780
B. Contractual liability 799
C. Restitution and public authorities 803
D. The Crown in litigation: privileges and immunities 804
E. Conclusion 814

Bibliography 815
Index 824
Publisher's acknowledgements 832