

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1

THEORY OF GARDEN ART

Contents	57
----------	----

Volume I

Dedication	65
Preface	66

PRELIMINARY REFLECTIONS

First Section: A View into Gardens of the Ancients and the Moderns	70
Second Section: Examination of Old and New Taste in Gardens	114
Third Section: On Garden Art as a Fine Art	137
Fourth Section: On the Function and Dignity of Gardens	146

PART ONE

First Section: On the Elements of the Beautiful Natural Landscape in General	151
Second Section: On the Various Characters of Landscape and Their Effects	171

Volume II

PART TWO

First Section: On Garden Sites	203
--------------------------------	-----

Second Section: On Woody Plants	208
Third Section: On Flowers	226
Fourth Section: On Grass	229
Fifth Section: On Water	232
Sixth Section: On Paths and Walkways	251

Volume III

PART THREE On Works of Art in Gardens	259
First Section: On Summer Residences and Country Houses	260
Second Section: On Small Garden Buildings	275
Third Section: Temples, Grottoes, Hermitages, Chapels, and Ruins	284
Fourth Section: On Resting Places, Bridges, and Gates	308
Fifth Section: On Statues, Monuments, and Inscriptions	312

Volume IV

PART FOUR

First Section: Assorted Observations on the New Garden Taste	336
Second Section: Towards a Definition of the Garden	346

PART FIVE Definition of the Different Types of Gardens

First Section: Gardens According to Different Climates	350
Second Section: Gardens According to Different Locations	352
Third Section: Gardens According to the Character of the Region	354
Fourth Section: Gardens According to the Seasons	366

Volume V

Fifth Section: Gardens or Scenes According to Time of Day	380
Sixth Section: Gardens According to the Character of Their Owners	390

Seventh Section: Gardens Whose Character Depends on Circumstances	406
Eighth Section: Garden-Related Improvements in Parts of a Country Residence	418
List of Illustrations	445
Notes	449
Works Cited	471
Index	487