

Contents

|                                                                                                                      |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| List of Contributors                                                                                          | vii |
| Introduction                                                                                                         | 1   |
| Margaret Cameron and Robert J. Stainton                                                                       |     |
| 1. Method, Meaning, and Ontology in Plato's Philosophy of LanguageDeborah Modrak                          | 16  |
| 2. Names, Verbs, and Sentences in Ancient Greek PhilosophyFrancesco Ademollo                              | 33  |
| 3. On What is Said: The Stoics and Peter AbelardMargaret Cameron                                          | 55  |
| 4. Philosophy of Language in the Medieval Arabic TraditionPeter Adamson and Alexander Key                 | 74  |
| 5. Those 'Funny Words': Medieval Theories of Syncategorematic TermsJoke Spruyt and Catarina Dutilh Novaes | 100 |
| 6. Semantic Content in Aquinas and OckhamGyula Klima                                                      | 121 |
| 7. Meaning and Linguistic Usage in Renaissance Humanism:The Case of Lorenzo VallaLodi Nauta           | 136 |
| 8. Medieval Theories of Signification to John LockeE. Jennifer Ashworth                                   | 156 |
| 9. Locke on the Names of ModesBenjamin Hill                                                               | 176 |
| 10. Herder's Doctrine of Meaning as UseMichael N. Forster                                                 | 201 |
| 11. Thomas Reid on LanguagePatrick Rysiew                                                                 | 223 |
| 12. Meaning in Action: Anton Marty's Pragmatic SemanticsLaurent Cesalli                                   | 245 |
| Name Index                                                                                                    | 267 |
| Subject Index                                                                                                 | 269 |