

CONTENTS

---

Preface xi

PART ONE: *Is Liberturianism Possible?

Prologue. The Knock at the Door 3

CHAPTER 1. Liberalism, Conservatism, Libertarianism 7

A Preliminary Definition 7

Liberal/Conservative 8

Left, Center, Right 10

Liberal Individualism as One Kind of Conservatism 11

CHAPTER 2. Liberty 13

Another Preliminary Definition 13

The Subject of Liberty 14

Liberty and Autonomy 15

The Nonatomic Individual 17

What Is Liberty? 18

Liberty: Freedom to Bring About 18

Freedom From and Freedom To 19

Utter Freedom 20

Interferences: Where the Action Is 20

CHAPTER 3. Liberty: Negative versus Positive 22

Negative and Positive Liberty: Freedom versus Power 22

Lack of Desire: A Constraint? 23

Lack of Reason: Another Constraint? 25

Our Subject: Social Freedom 26

A Note on Slavery	27
Is "Positive Liberty" Liberty?	29
CHAPTER 4. Two Conceptions of Liberty as a Social Concern	32
The Two Ideas	32
What Constitutes Interference?	33
Coercion	34
Pressuring	35
Interference versus Nonassistance	37
CHAPTER 5. Rights	41
Rights Defined	41
Rights and Duties: Definition or Mere Correlation?	44
Rights without Duties? So-called "Liberty Rights"	44
Duties without Rights? Rights, Duties, and Justice	45
Duties to No One in Particular?	47
Enforceability	48
Enforcement and Force	48
A Paradox: My Freedom Is Your Unfreedom?	50
Rights Prima Facie or Rights Absolute?	50
"Side Constraints"	53
'General' and 'Particular'; 'Natural' and 'Conventional'	56
Negative versus Positive Rights	57
Negative versus Positive Rights to Liberty	58
Libertarianism and Negative Rights	59
CHAPTER 6. Liberty and Property	62
How Liberty and Property Are Related	62
Property Rights	63
Property in Oneself	66
From Liberty to Property in Things	69
Property Rights and the "Freedom Entails Unfreedom" Paradox	73
CHAPTER 7. Initial Acquisition	79
Getting Ownership Started	79
Rights to Things Are Rights to Act	80
Another "Libertarianism Restricts Liberty" Argument	82
"Acquiring" Not an Act	85
Arthur's Argument: Acquisition as Harmful	87
CHAPTER 8. Property Rights Concluded	94
Transfer	94
Equality	98

Capitalist Rights Not to Be Capitalists	99
Resources and Generational Considerations	100
PART TWO: Foundations: Is Libertarianism Rational?
CHAPTER 9. Introduction	105
On "Foundations"	105
The Options	108
CHAPTER 10. Intuitions in Moral Philosophy	110
Two Kinds of Intuitionism	110
Metaphysical Intuitionism	110
Mysteriousness	111
Futility	111
Disagreement	112
Society-Dependence	112
Generality	112
Importance	114
Methodological Intuitionism	115
Disagreement, Again	117
Reflective Equilibrium	118
The Practicality of Morals	118
Moral "Science"?	120
CHAPTER 11. Morality	122
The Need for Clarity about Morality	122
'Personal' versus 'Social' Morality	123
The Compleat Deontologist?	127
Conventional versus Critical Morality	128
CHAPTER 12. Contractarianism	131
The Idea of the "Contract" Approach to Foundations	131
Universality?	134
Hobbes	135
The Prisoner's Dilemma	137
The Sovereign	139
Is Cooperation Possible? The Prisoner's Dilemma	140
Gauthier's View	140
Morality, the Real World, and Prisoner's Dilemma	144
Being Able to Complain	146
CHAPTER 13. The Logic of Contractarianism	148
The Basic Appeal	148

The "Natural Law"	148
A Note on Utilitarianism	150
CHAPTER 14. Contractarianism to Libertarianism?	154
The Project	154
A Challenge	155
The Road from Contractarianism to Libertarianism	165
Values	166
A False Start: Autonomy Generalized	167
Another False Start: An Argument from "Survival"	172
The Central Argument	175
The Right to Liberty, Properly Grounded	175
The Crucial Question	177
Can We Improve on the Libertarian Option?	181
Efficiency versus Justice?	183
The Gospel According to St. Pareto	184
PART THREE: Libertarianism and Reality: What Does Libertarianism Imply about Concrete Social Policy?
CHAPTER 15. Society and the Market	187
The Free Market	187
Market and Morals	188
Two Views about Society and the Market	189
Market Morality as a Public Good	191
What Is Economic?	197
Capitalism and Consumerism	198
Information	201
Perfect Competition	202
A Question about Factor Rent	203
CHAPTER 16. The State	207
The State, Government, Public, Associations, Us	207
A Note on Democracy	211
The Down Side of Democracy	212
Political Authority	214
Authority and Coordination	215
The Right to Protection	217
Protection and Nozick's Argument for the State	217
Law	221
Enforcement and the Problem of Punishment	223

Punishment: The Options	224
Retribution	225
The Deterrence/Protection Theory	226
Restitution	229
CHAPTER 17. Redistribution	232
Redistribution and the State	232
A Tale of Two Scrooges	234
Public Goods Arguments	235
A Note on the "Minimal State"	241
A Tale of Three Rules about Mutual Aid	242
A Note on Symphony Orchestras	244
CHAPTER 18. Insurance Arguments and the Welfare State	245
The Libertarian Reply	246
Insurance and Charity	247
Overwhelming Majorities and Administrative Overhead	251
A Defense of Charity	257
Duties of Charity	263
The "Social Minimum"	265
CHAPTER 19. The Problem of Children	269
The Problem	269
Nonfundamental Rights	270
Children's Rights	270
Abortion and Infanticide	272
CHAPTER 20. Freedom and Information	275
Education: Should We Sell the Schools?	275
The Orwin Thesis	281
Knowledge	283
Freedom of Speech and the Ideological Marketplace	284
Pornography, Hate Literature, and the Like	290
A Libertarian Postscript	295
CHAPTER 21. The Public and Its Spaces	297
"Public Property"	297
Zoning Laws	303
Rules, Regulations, and Bureaucrats	307
Sell the Streets?	309
On Discrimination in Hiring	313
Discrimination, Inefficiency, and the Market	318
The Public Sector	319

CHAPTER 22. Defense and International Relations	321
Libertarianism and War	321
Foreign Policy toward Nonliberal States	323
The Nonrevolutionist's Evolutionist Handbook	325
Epilogue. Reflections on Libertarianism	327
What Has Not Been Proven	327
The Lure of Nationalism	329
Privatization, Trivialization, and the Eternal Yuppie	330
The Secular Problem of Evil	332
Advice to Libertarian Political Parties	333
Does It Matter?	334
Concluding Note	335
Notes	339
Bibliography	355
Index	363