

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword and Acknowledgements	vii
-------------------------------------	-----

Introduction: Language Change in Early English.....	ix
Brian Lowrey and Fabienne Toupin

Abbreviations	xvi
---------------------	-----

Part I:

Functional and Regional Variation in Discourse and the Lexicon

Verbs of Granting in Old English Documents	2
Anna Wojtyś

The Linguistic Image of “sea” in Old English on the Basis of Orosius	19
Agnieszka Magnuszewska

The Middle English Preposition and Adverb atwen	41
Ewa Ciszek-Kiliszevska

Inkhorn Terms: Some that Got Away. The Case of Middle English Words Ending in -ess(e)	64
Elena Sasu and Nicolas Trapateau

Part II:

Prosodic and Phonological Parameters

In Search of the Missing Link, or how OE macode Became ModE made ...	90
Jerzy Wełna

Middle English Poetic Prosody and its Reliability as a Source of Data for Linguistic Analysis: the Case of Chaucer	106
Marta Kołos

Part III:
Syntactic Variation and Change

The Influence of the Grammatical System and Analogy in Processes of Language Change: the Case of the Auxiliation of HAVE-to Once Again	120
Olga Fischer
On the Status of cunnen in Middle English	151
Magdalena Tomaszewska
OE weorþan and Related Process Copulas: Demise and Rise.....	166
Xavier Dekeyser
On Two Types of Double Object Constructions in Old English and Old Icelandic.....	178
Yana Chankova
Subjectless Infinitival Perception Reports in Old English.....	198
Brian Lowrey
Some Historical Notes on English Negation: unethes , almost and hardly	215
Susagna Tubau and Richard Ingham
Contributors.....	227