

Contents

Acknowledgements	vi
Abbreviations	viii
Introduction: Post-Colonial Criticism: A Transformative Labour	i
I. Gothic and Supernatural – Allegories at Work and at Play in Kipling's Indian Fiction	21
II. E. M. Forster and the Dialogic Imagination	53
III. John Masters: Writing as Staying On	80
IV. The Burden of Representation: Counter-Discourse through Cultural Texts in J. G. Farrell's The Siege of Krishnapur	109
V. The God that Left the Temple: Unravelling the Imperial Narrative in Paul Scott's Raj Quartet	134
VI. Post-Colonial DestiNations: Spatial Re(con)figurings in Khushwant Singh's Train to Pakistan and Rohinton Mistry's A Fine Balance	161
Bibliography	190
Index	208