

Contents

Preface.....	ix
1. How to Write the Fight: The Impossible Necessity of Narrating Violence.....	1
1.1. The Caribbean Context .....	1
1.2. The Categorization of Violence.....	35
2. The “Choppy, Broken Voice” of the Nation in the Work of Frantz Fanon.....	61
2.1. Maroon or Creole? .....	61
2.2. A New Sensorium .....	94
3. The “Constructive Use of Violence” in Michelle Cliff’s Free Enterprise .....	115
3.1. A Branching Narration.....	115
3.2. The Caribbean Universe .....	131
3.3. Counter-Narratives and Nation.....	143
4. Violence and its Antidote: Erna Brodber’s Myal .....	153
4.1. Spirit Thieves .....	153
4.2. Violence and Nation .....	173
5. The Puerto Rican Reinterpretation of the Nation .....	193
5.1. Colonialism, Violence, and the National Question .....	193
5.2. Writing Borinquen .....	232
6. From Repatriation to Reparation, or: The Flag in Drag .....	261
Bibliography.....	285