

Contents

preface johannes a. smit	5
postmodernist philosophy: an attempt at clarification remi bamisaiye	6 politics of the body: rosa burger's defection rose bloem	17 body, repression and identity in pepetela's yaka isaura de oliveira	25
resisting totalisation: afrikaans literature and the postcolonial project philip john	47
the search for identity in student literature of the late 1960s to early 1970s lionel w. lawson	66 identity and cultural repression in the colonized african psyche: mariama ba's scarlet song and tsitsi dangarembga's nervous conditions oyekan owomoyela	77 carnal knowledge: reading the body of south african writing graham pechey	102
postcolonialism in africa: whereto sm qono	117
a house divided: ideological conflict in contemporary afrikaans literature luc renders	126
griet skryf 'n sprokie as rupture in patriarchal ideology a.e. Scheepers	141 desiring the undesirable: developing a methodology of queer reading christell stander	148

the rural novel as cultural memory: framing (esp. social) transposition in south africa d.h. steenberg	161
borderlines of the body in african women's writing flora veit-wild	172
flaunting the gay male body: slagplaas by koos prinsloo andries visagie	184
inongova njakenjake : the abjectification of female bodies in shona theatre j. wrolson	191
Programme	207