

Contents

Preface and Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction. The Critical Context: Defining Subject and Form	1
1. The Scope and Limits of West Indian Historiography	14
2. The Novel as History: Edgar Mittelholzer and V. S. Reid	39
3. History as Loss: Determinism as Vision and Form in V. S. Naipaul	54
4. Lamming and the Mythic Imagination: Meaning and Dimensions of Freedom	77
5. Beyond Realism: Wilson Harris and the Immateriality of Freedom	106
6. Transcending Linear Time: History and Style in Derek Walcott's Poetry	127
7. From Myth to Dialectic: History in Derek Walcott's Drama	169
8. Edward Brathwaite and Submerged History: The Aesthetics of Renaissance	182
9. Configurations of History in the Writing of West Indian Women	223
10. Africa in the Historical Imagination of the West Indian Writer	253
Conclusion	269
Notes	277
Bibliography	293
Index	311