

CONTENTS

Preface	Page 7
Introduction	11
Chapter I The Power of Reality	13
The Pragmatic Conception: William James—John Dewey—'The New Realism'
The Social Scene and the Individual: Lincoln Steffens and The Muckraking Movement—Upton Sinclair—The Sociological Essay—Sinclair Lewis—John Dos Passos
The Aftermath of Determinism: Introductory—Theodore Dreiser—James T. Farrell—'Proletarian Writers'—H. L. Mencken—Erskine Caldwell—Edith Wharton
II The Quest for Tradition	57
Historical Consciousness: Introductory—Henry Adams—History of Ideas and Literary Criticism
Period Fiction: The Two Phases—Three Best Sellers: Hervey Allen, Margaret Mitchell, Kenneth Roberts
Regionalism: The Example of Willa Cather
III The Fate of Man	73
The Philosophical Approach: The New Humanism—Reinhold Niebuhr—A Note on Existentialism
The Psychological Approach in Fiction: Sherwood Anderson—William Faulkner—Carson McCullers—Katherine Anne Porter—Glenway Wescott
Between Experience and Vision: Ernest Hemingway—F. Scott Fitzgerald—John Steinbeck—Thomas Wolfe—Robert Penn Warren—Henry Miller

Chapter IV The Realm of Imagination Page 119

Aesthetics: Introductory—George Santayana
Fantasy: James Branch Cabell—Gertrude Stein—
 Eudora Welty

Poetry: Introductory—Carl Sandburg—Hart
 Crane—Archibald MacLeish—Edgar Lee
 Masters—Edwin Arlington Robinson—Conrad
 Aiken—Robinson Jeffers—Robert Frost—
 Vachel Lindsay—Ezra Pound—Other Poets

v The Great Conflict: the Rise of the American
 Drama 160

The General Background: The Significance of O'Neill

Pragmatists and Determinists: Comedy and Social
 Drama

Period Elements: Maxwell Anderson

Metaphysical Problems: Thornton Wilder

Imagination and Reality: William Saroyan—
 Tennessee Williams—Arthur Miller

Index 185