

Contents

Contributors	vii
Cultural Migrants: Introducing a New Concept in SLA Research Fanny Forsberg Lundell and Inge Bartning	1
Part 1: Focus on Cultural Migrants
1 Beyond Native-like? The Lexical Profile of a Cultural Migrant in Italy Anna Gudmundson and Camilla Bardel	17
2 Successful Profiles in High-level L2 French – ‘c’est un choix de vie’ Fanny Forsberg Lundell and Inge Bartning	59
3 Reported Use and Perception of tu and vous Among Less Integrated and Highly Integrated Anglophone Cultural Migrants in France Amanda Edmonds and Catherine Guesle-Coquelet	83
4 L2 English Vocabulary in a Long-residency Swedish Group Compared to a Group of English Native Speakers Britt Erman and Margareta Lewis	115
Part 2: Culture as a Decisive Factor in L2 Attainment
5 Migratory Experience and Second Language Acquisition Among Polish and Chinese Migrants in Dublin, Ireland Chloé Diskin and Vera Regan	137

6	Acculturation as the Key to the Ultimate Attainment? The Case of Polish-English Bilinguals in the UK Kate Hammer and Jean-Marc Dewaele	178
7	The Role of Sociopsychological Factors in Long-term L2 Achievement of L1 Chinese Learners of L2 Spanish Gisela Granena	203
	Concluding Chapter: What Can SLA Learn From Cultural Migrants? Fanny Forsberg Lundell and Inge Bartning	221
	Index	228