

CONTENTS

Introduction. "The Hope of Today and the Reality of Tomorrow": Popular Science, Popular Culture, and Science Fiction	1
PART I. CIRCULATION	13
1 "Magazines for Morons": Pulp Magazines and the Emergence of Science Fiction	17
2 Conversations from the "Backyard": Reading and Imagining Community	51
PART II. READING	79
3 Discovering the Freedom of Facts: Fact, Fiction, and the Authority of Science	83
4 Involving Adventure, Reassuring Romance: Engendering Science Fiction's Domestic Tranquillity	111
5 Human Martians and Asian Aliens: The Racial Nature of Wondrous Worlds	147
6 The Progress of Time: Einstein, History, and the Dimensions of Time Travel	179
PART III. PRACTICE	211
7 "Fandom Is Just a Goddamn Hobby": The Industry of Fans and Professionals	215
8 "We Want to Play with Spaceships": Popular Rocket Science in Action	251
Epilogue. Beyond the "Gernsback Continuum": Science Fiction's Community and Social Networks	301
List of Abbreviations	315
Notes	317
Index	375
Acknowledgments	389